2016
A Year of having What You Say You want

From the Archangelic realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you now that you are moving into a new year, a new year of community, harmony and equality. Your year of 2016 is a year of community, harmony and equality. Moving into states of intimacy and now beginning to have what you say you want. Moving to being open and available to the creation of your new life. Moving to the having-ness of what you say you want.

Many of you are prepared to look at what might happen, what is supposed to happen. Always bracing for the undercurrent of lack, limitation and struggling to survive life. The question we have for you now is, "Are you bracing yourself to have what you say you want?" Are you bracing and opening to have the wonderful-ness, the joyous-ness of what you have always said you wanted?

In many ways your year of 2016 is a year of having what you say you want, manifesting what you say you want. Being in a place of receiving what you say you want and giving to others. Opening to the balance of giving and receiving.

As your year of 2015 comes to an end, you can look at your accomplishments and see what has transpired for you. What We would like you to focus upon is what you have received. See where you have opened your heart to receive love. Look at what has transpired in your life in 2015 and see what you have accomplished. What have you done? Where have you grown? Where have you moved from a state of lack, limitation and struggling to survive life to a state of abundance? Abundance is simply a state of being, a state of mind, a state of emotion.

It is now about transitioning from 2015 into a portal of energy that will open for you on the first of your year of 2016 through the 16th of the month of January. A portal of energy will open on 1 -1 -2016 to 1- 16 -2016. It will be a period of time of transition where you can assimilate new energies and new downloads of energy.

Your year of 2016 is a year of full connection to multi-dimensional energies. Moving to new portals of energy perhaps. It is a year of manifestation and a year of having what you say you want. There will be stages of this throughout the year.

The main question we have for you and the overall theme moving into 2016 on 1-1-2016 is; Are You Ready? Are you ready to have what you say you want? Are you ready to move from avoiding your feelings? Are you ready to move to a place of intimacy with others?

How has the relationship with yourself shifted and change? This is the main question We have for you. During the period of time from 1-1-2016 to 1-16-2016 utilize this sixteen-day period of time to fully see how your relationship with yourself has shifted and changed.

The most important aspect here is; moving to a place of having what you say you want is directly related to the relationship you are having with you. So see where your relationship with you has shifted and changed. Do you love, honor and value you more now than you ever have? Do you see the meaning value and purpose of you, your endeavors and your talents and gifts?

It is most important as you move through your personal process that this shifts, changes, grows and expands.

Your year of 2016 is also a year of expansion. A year of adventure to have what you say you want. Can you allow what you say you want to be an adventure, an exploration and a wondrous journey into fulfillment? So your year of 2016 is also a year of fulfillment. Fulfilling all that you say you want through your endeavors, your talents and gifts, your modalities and your teachings. It is a year of expansion, exploration, and adventure into the newness of life.

Are you ready to release the old? Or do you still want to meander into the depth and breadth of the personal process? Yet as We have said to you, is still very important.

Are you ready to move from a place where you have always prepared for doom and gloom, the worst case scenario, as many of you are adept at? Or can you now prepare for what you say you want? Prepare for joyousness? Prepare yourself for the wonderfulness of life? Prepare for your intimate relationships?

The period of time from your first of January to the 16th is where a portal of energy will open and allow you to begin the preparation of receiving love, receiving what you say you want.

Your year will move in increments. In 2016 it will be a month to month receiving of energy. Portals of energy will open that will allow you to receive love, receive and have what you say you want. When you begin to have what you say you want and be fulfilled in that process you will then see how you can give more. By receiving love and allowing yourself to receive it, you will then see how much you have given.

In this sixteen-day period at the beginning of your year, see what you have given in your life because it is now about receiving. Open your heart to receive what you say you want, to have what you say you want. As opposed to continue to set intentions, repeating affirmations that in some way, shape or form keeps what you say you want at arms length. Thus continuing the yearning process.

It is very important at the beginning for your year to see what you have received. Ask yourself, "Am I receiving what I say I want?" It is about making a full commitment to living your life with what is. Releasing yearning after what you want. Then quite possibly seeing what has already appeared in your life.

What are you preparing for?

Are you preparing for the worst case scenario?

Are you preparing for doom and gloom?

Are you looking for that and waiting for it to happen?

Or can you now shift your energetic mindset into preparing yourself for fulfillment for love, for the powerfulness and greatness of life?

See now that it is not about looking back at why certain things happened in your life. Take notice of what has happened and see what you have learned from it. Yet now creating a brand new set of choices and decisions for yourself.

Ask; Am I truly ready to release the old? Am I truly ready to have what I say I want?

If in fact the set of choices and decisions are about having what you say you want ask yourself, "What is most important for me?"

The year of 2016 is about having what you say you want. It will be a succession on a month-by-month basis to see if in fact you are having what you say you want.

The world outside of you is a continuation of the old. What is transpiring outside of you in the world is another saga of the old, of drama and glamor. If each individual sets their intentions, their goals, their priorities, as to what is important to fulfillment and joy, you will not only begin to shift and change your life on an individual basis in the microcosm, you will move into intimacy, community, harmony and equality in truth with others. You will then begin to shift energetically the dynamics of the macrocosm if this is what you say you want.

Is intimacy and community, harmony and equality what you say you want?

Or underneath all of what you say you want still lays the old habits, pattern, rituals, judgment and shame of self? And preparing for the worst case scenario.

It is time to shift into a full state of grace of beingness of self.

On a month-by-month basis in 2016 this will be a year of shifting and changing into the new if in fact that is your choice and decision.

Look back at your year of 2015 and at the world outside of you. See where and how the old is continuously being fortified. Moving you into a state of fear, lack and limitation. See where you are placing your energy outside of yourself onto the energy of others.

Your year of 2016 is a year of fully stepping into the powerfulness and greatness as a unique individual. It is important to continue the process within and if it is important to move into the gratefulness of the beingness of you. Standing in the knowingness of self and making a priority if you so choose, that what you say you want you will have in 2016, and quite possibly will come more immediately that you could ever imagine. Move into the state of imagination in 2016.

See where you still look outside of you at the old habits patterns and rituals at the old states of your life, the old governmental states, political states that may still be governing your life. Are you still looking outside of you and reacting to what is happening in the third dimensional realm outside of you?

Are you still moving back into history? Lamenting your personal history? Lamenting about the history of your world? Or are you ready to see it is as history? See it in your "rear view mirror". It is now time to create a brand new life for yourself and contributing to others brand new life.

You can continually go back in time and go over what has transpired in your life. Continually lament the process and immersing yourself into healing, though this is still important. Each and every one of you has moved to a greater depth in a personal process. It is now time to ask yourself, "Am I ready to have what I say I want?"

Begin to see the adventure and joy of life in 2016. Move from struggling to survive to having the adventure of life. Release the attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you that gauges the life you are living. 2016 is the year of moving into the full beingness of you.

2016 is about connecting the pureness of the God self, the God force, the Christ Consciousness. It is not so much about connecting with multi-dimensional energies for information or the teachings, lessons and messages that you can bring to the world. This is only part of connecting multi-dimensionally. Another part is now connecting to the energetic God Force, Christ Consciousness of the beingness of love, and moving into community, harmony and equality with this energy. This is the energy you call God. In conjunction with this energy know that you will be supported in your life in the third dimension.

It is about shifting the parameters of connecting on a multi-dimensional basis. Shifting from the wonderful information you are receiving to, connecting to God, the God energy, the God force, the Christ Consciousness? When in communion with this energy, know that you are supported and guided throughout this lifetime. Doing this on a committed and consistent basis.

As you move to the portal of energy beginning on the first of your year in 2016 it will be an extraordinary wide opening. The portal will open and energy will pour forth in a way you have never experience before. It will be an infusion of energy and will open for you to connect with. Move through it to the sixteenth day of 2016 so you can immerse yourself in what you say you want. Feel the supportive energies. You can move through this period of time to know that you are supported and loved by multi-dimensional sources, the God force and the Christ consciousness. This portal in time is about faith and trust. Your year of 2016 is about faith and trust in yourself.
