

Archangel Michael Speaks
Overview 2017
Channeled by Jeff Fasano

The Overview of 2017

It will be an assertive movement toward creating a new collective consciousness by standing in the powerfulness of your truth. Standing in an individuated, unique expression of you. Throughout the year you will see a new you and new ways of expressing the powerfulness of you.

Archangel Michael's Message

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into your new year of 2017. The year of living your life's purpose, redirecting your purpose, opening up to the grandness, the greatness, and the wonderment of self. Moving as well into the full expression of your greatness and the powerfulness of you. You are opening up to new parameters in your life and all the while keeping an eye on the third dimensional realm outside of you.

The year of 2017 is about moving into the full expression of the powerfulness and beingness of you. You will be moving through the year on a month by month basis. It will be a process of redirecting your energies to your powerfulness, your greatness and the wonderfulness of self so you can move into your full powerfulness and beingness of who you are and expressing yourself to the world. By doing this and moving into your heart space, you will open to the essence of who you are and expressing that truth. The truth of self being community, harmony, equality, peace and intimacy.

We come to you at this most wonderful and glorious time to give you an overview of your year. It will be a step by step process. Your year of 2016 was simply a beginning and We had asked you at the beginning of 2016 to look at the life you say you want and make a list of the aspects of that life. We took you through a step by step process on a month by month basis to identify what you say you want by releasing old habits, patterns and rituals. Committing to the self and the inner journey.

At the end of 2016 you began to close doorways that was constituted by those old habits, patterns and rituals. You quite possibly moved to a greater level of consciousness as to what you say you want for your life and how you want to live it. The ending of 2016 was simply a beginning to bring to fruition the full expression of your truth and standing the powerfulness of you.

Through 2017 We will bring to you on a month by month basis, ways in which you can begin to express that truth so you can open up to the grandness, wonderment, and a more powerfulness of self. For many who say they are looking for intimacy, this begins with standing in the powerfulness of self and knowing it. Then by identifying your powerfulness and greatness and the life you say you want, the next step is moving within to know your truth and a greater depth of love of self and another.

The first step is moving into the intimacy of self so you can move out and create that intimacy with others. Then creating a new soul family if that is possible for you. As you move into that soul family you then begin creating a new collective consciousness. This is the process of 2017, creating a new collective consciousness.

Keep an eye on what is transpiring in your third dimensional world and use your tools, asking the questions, what does resonate for me and what doesn't? By continuing to use that tool and seeing what transpired at the end of 2016, see if that moved you to a place of defense and opposition and perhaps moving into isolation and separation to survive it. Then possibly into a place of feeling powerless. Based upon what has transpired in the third dimensional realm, your nervous system may have been triggered into an old state of consciousness, conditioning and memory. If you have been triggered, the ego will move into defense and you move into core defense patterns. Possibly moving into isolation and separation and then fighting what is transpiring outside of you. If you find yourself in this place, it is time to take a look at it because it is not your truth.

If you are following a pathway of self development, life mastery, self mastery, self love, love is the key component. When you move into isolation and separation, struggling to survive life, in opposition to and fighting what is transpiring outside of you, is there a component of love within this?

We will touch upon love now. The key component of your truth is love. Is love a key component of your truth? If you look at what is transpiring outside of you in your third dimensional realm, is love constituted within that? If it isn't, it is of a low vibration and thus you may have a low tolerance for it. Move within and if you begin with the foundation of love and love of self, you then can move to begin the fruition of powerfulness within you.

January: A Month of Love

This all begins in your first month of January, a month of Love, the love of self.

Ask yourself these questions:

Is love a component of my life right now?

When I look outside of myself in the third dimensional realm and see what is happening in it, am I opposing and fighting it?

Am I separating and isolating from it?

Allow what comes to the surface to do so and then ask:
Is love constituted within this?

This is the first step in January of 2017.

As you move through a step by step process in 2017, we will continue to touch upon this and bring you tools you can utilize that will bring you to the powerfulness of you and then seeing that you have the life you say you want.

If you moved through a process in 2016 to release old habits, patterns and rituals, you now find yourself at the beginning. 2016 was simply a beginning to have the life you say you want. The first step is love and this leads you to the powerfulness of you as well as peace, community, harmony, and equality. It is important to remember that a powerful self, a loving self, an intimate self, is the foundation to begin creating a collective consciousness. This what your year of 2017 is about as well, creating a new collective consciousness of the high vibrational resonance of love, peace, community, harmony and equality.

When you look outside of yourself in the third dimension and what is transpiring in it, it is not about withdrawing from it. You are in the human incarnation having this third dimensional experience and it is the way in which you relate to your third dimensional experience and what is transpiring outside of you. This begins with standing in your powerfulness that comes from the foundation of love, peace, community, harmony and equality. It is from this foundation you begin to create the new collective consciousness.

So when something or someone outside of you begins to trigger your nervous system and brings up old memory, conditioning and leads to old habits, patterns and rituals, simply be aware and conscious of this. You can utilize your tools and move into this. Ask, is love constituted within this?

It is not about opposing or fighting what is transpiring outside of you. Those who trigger this within you want you to continue the fight and opposition. This is what fuels the low vibrational and dense energetic aspect of what is transpiring in the world outside of you. If you oppose or fight it, this fuels it to live on. It is now about creating a new world of community, harmony, equality, love, peace and intimacy. Joining together in intimate relationships in a new collective consciousness and bringing forward the basis of this.

It is important to look at your relationships with others. What is important throughout this year of 2017 is creating a collective consciousness or similar consciousness within your relationships with those on the same pathway as you. With those who hold the same conscious values as you, you can create intimate one on one relationship with them. It is time to look at relationships where you are trying to "fit square pegs in round holes". Trying to get that relationship to be the relationship you want it to be thus remaining on the hamster wheel of fighting the other. It is time to perhaps create a new soul family in a collective consciousness that reflects where you are within this.

So in your month of January the basis is love. And in 2017 as We take you through a step by step process on a monthly basis, various multi-dimensional energies will move in to support this movement. The movement will be an accelerated one throughout your year that will possibly transcend time in your linear fashion. The rotation of your earthly plain is accelerating, thus accelerating the urgency.

If you find urgency within you to shift and change what is transpiring within you, the fight of trying to change what is happening in your third dimensional realm may continue. It is important to see the archaic aspect of what is transpiring in the old world of form outside of you and the illusion that has been created.

Open up to the powerfulness of you. Can you simply see what is transpiring outside of you in your world and the illusion that has been created and allow this to illuminate the illusions you have created for yourself through the conditioning? If you have seen this throughout your year of 2016, this year of 2017 will be the year to stand in the powerfulness of your truth. Standing in the powerfulness that is you, the powerfulness that is peace, love, community, harmony and equality.

A Weather Report: New Meaning, Value and Purpose

Many have come to endings in 2016 and easing out of their conditioning and beginning to make decisions based upon love, peace, community, harmony and equality. Thus beginning to move out of their self imposed isolation and separation. The outcome of this is enlightenment to create a new direction for their life purpose. Many have succumbed to the conditioning of Mom and Dad and this is now coming to an end and leads to release and then mourning the death of it.

You will now be able to stand in the power of your own true voice. You might be unsure of where to go and looking to muster the energy and courageousness to live your life purpose.

Many now may be in a questioning period, questioning what the purpose is in your life right now.

If you have followed a path to release old habits, patterns and rituals and done so, many are now standing at the cusp of their power. Transitioning from releasing the old and into creating new.

A way in which to look at this is with a wonderment of what can be created now based upon what brings you the most joy. This is the beginning of the new. Many have released an inordinate amount of old energy and old habits patterns and rituals and now seeking intimacy with others. Many have moved through their fear and now can face their feelings and have their feelings.

You now can begin to connect with those who are moving forward and toward their purpose. Connecting now with those who are on a committed pathway of self mastery. This is the key. Joining together with those on that path in collective consciousness. You can now create the commitment to connect with those who are on a committed path of self mastery.

Many are having questions about their life and their life purpose. If in fact you weren't on a committed path of self mastery you wouldn't have these questions. By being on a path of self mastery, questions will arise from time to time. It is when endings come in your life that questions arise as well.

When you end old habits patterns and rituals. meaning, value and purpose begins to shift. As you move through the evolutionary process in the human incarnation on a committed path of self mastery and release old habits, patterns and rituals, you release attachments. With the release of these attachments, meaning, value and purpose shifts because you grow deeper within. When you release attachments then look at your life and what is transpiring in it and your chosen career for example, meaning, value and purpose shifts. This is transpiring for many now. Many are looking at meaning value and purpose in relation to what is transpiring in their life right now. This is an outcome of growth and the depth of it. You can then begin to create new meaning, value and purpose based upon where you are in your life now. Look now at everything in your life through joy and love. The new meaning, value and purpose is based upon the powerfulness of you.

2017 A year of Assertion and the need for Collective Consciousness

The acceleration of your life, your planet and the collective consciousness is intensifying. In 2017 the need for collective consciousness will intensify. 2017 is a year of assertion. And this will intensify throughout the year. You will be prompted to move through each month throughout your year assertively to create a new collective consciousness. We caution you to see if you are fighting and opposing what is transpiring outside of you in the world. Be a constituent of love. Are you a constituent of fighting and opposing thus fueling what is transpiring outside of you?

As you move through 2017 the key is to have your feelings. Energies will move in to support you throughout 2017 when you are triggered. As you move through 2017 on a month by month basis you will identify when you are triggered by what is transpiring in your outside world and in your individual relationships. Seeing where and when you are triggered and how you can have your feelings. As opposed to reacting when you are triggered and moving into opposition and fighting. See where you can respond from a place of love. This is about taking responsibility for yourself.

All this is very important when moving into collective consciousness. You are guided to help and support others. It is about communicating this through love.

2017: Four Three Month Segments

First 3 months:

Will be an accelerated path toward having the life you say you want, creating the new soul family and creating collective consciousness.

Second three months:

You will move into a different way of looking at your third dimensional realm.

Third three months:

You will move back into assertiveness to move through what is transpiring on your earthly plain.

The last 3 months:

You will see the outpouring of new relationships and a new collective consciousness.