A Message for June 2018
Think of Love!

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you as you move into your new month of June and the mid point of your year 2018. We now ask you; Where are you now at the midpoint of your year as you move deeper within to embody your truth and who you are and to express this?

Your year of 2018 is a year of moving within, raising your resonance and vibration and fully expressing the truth of who you are. Where are you within the parameters of expressing yourself to the world, expressing your truth and speaking that truth?

Your year of 2017 was about discovering or remembering your truth. So what is your truth? Where are you within the full expression of self?

It is now time to reflect upon your year as you have reached the midpoint to see your process.

What has been your process?

What has transpired in your life up to this moment in time that quite possibly has revealed a greater depth of your truth?

Where have you developed a new and greater sense of self, a greater sense of who you are?

Where are you loving, honoring and valuing yourself more deeply?

We ask you now to move into a retrospective place so you can see what has transpired in your life up to this moment in time. It is a time to look into the mirror and ask; Where am I right now within me?

We ask you to let go of where you are in the third dimensional world outside of you and simply move within.

Your month of June is a movement within to see where you are in relationship with yourself.

Where has the relationship with yourself shifted and changed?

Do you love, honor and value yourself more deeply?

Is your truth and the truth of who you are more apparent to you?

Is it more real to you?

Do you have greater clarity around your truth?

Are you now expressing yourself out in the world?
Or is there still trepidation surrounding that?
Are you separating yourself from those outside of you?
Have you moved into isolation and separation?
Or, are you out in the world moving into a place of community, harmony and equality with others?

We also ask you in your month of June to look at your relationships.
Look at the relationships you are having with others and ask:
Is there a balance of giving and receiving?
Are these relationships in community, harmony and equality, peace, love and joy?
Do these relationships raise my resonance and vibration?

The way in which you can gauge where you are within the relationship with yourself, is to look at the relationship you are having with others. See what these relationships are.
Are there attachments in the relationships?
Do you still move out into the world with attachments?
An example is: If I am in this relationship, what am I getting from it?

You are now at a crucial point in time where it is apparent and important the each and every one of you open your heart to receive and give love in balance.

Where now are you giving to yourself?
Where are you receiving from yourself?
Where are you giving to others?
Where are you receiving from others?

As you now reach the midpoint of your year it is important to see where you are in balance with life. This is why We have asked you to suspend what is transpiring outside of you in your world and move within to see where you are with the relationship you are having with you.

Have you gained greater clarity with your truth?
Have you gained greater clarity with who you are?
Have you gained greater clarity with the relationships you are having with others?

As you move beyond the midpoint of 2018 in your month of June, it will be important to take a deeper step out into the world to fully bring yourself to the world.

Are you showing up in the world outside of you?

As you move through your month of June and head into your month of July to the second half of 2018, the question that will be asked of you is; Where are you showing up in the depth and breadth of you and the powerfulness and greatness and the joy of self?

Where are you showing up in life to give your talents and gifts?

Are you opening your heart space to receive love?

So, as you move through your month of June, it is important to see where there is a balance of giving and receiving in life.

Are you opening to receive or are you giving to get love?

As you move through your month of June think of love. Think of love of self, love of others. Think about what you love.

What do you love about you?

What do you love about others?

It is now time to move into the concept and the context of love.

It is time to look at the context of you through the eyes, energy and openness of love.

Where are you loving, honoring and valuing you?

Are you loving, honoring and valuing you?

Have you discovered who you are?

And if you have, do you love, honor and value you?

It is time to move from the concept of love and live love in the depth of your heart space.

We ask you now, to write down, Love.

Spontaneously ask yourself; What does that mean to me?

It is time to define love for yourself?

Do this to see if you are emanating from a place of love, acceptance and compassion for yourself and others.

As We come to you at this wonderful and most glorious time, it is time to see where you are within you.

Can you fully accept with compassion where you are with love?

How much love do you give yourself?

How much love do you give others?

How much love do you receive from yourself?

How much love do you receive from others?
