

Archangel Michael Speaks

Channeled by Jeff Fasano

Activating a Deeper Awareness to Your Divine Soul Plan

It is about activating a deeper awareness and consciousness that you are living your divine soul plan. It is important to take action now and do this taking charge of your life to direct your will for life towards what you say you want and what you want your life to be.

Many are beginning to feel something deep within that change must occur in their life. This change is important and it is great. It is a move to the next level of your soul's divine plan. Many may not be conscious and aware of what is transpiring. Yet what they are conscious of is the importance to close the door to the old because it no longer serves them. They see that change is important where their old habits, patterns and behaviors are concerned. They see the need to close the door to old relationships that no longer serve them. They are beginning to feel feelings deep within their heart space that are triggering the need for change. Many are moving to a knowingness that if they want to walk through the new doorway into the unknown, they must take action to close the door to the old behind them in various aspects of their life. What is transpiring is they are readying themselves to take the next step in their soul's divine plan.

With the activation of the awareness that you are already living your soul's divine plan, what surfaces are feelings, realizations, and a knowingness. What is simply happening are endings. It is an end to a chapter to that aspect of your divine plan. Your choice is to close the chapter. In order to ascend to the next step in your soul's divine plan, We ask you to look at the old to see what no longer resonates for you and what holds you in low dense vibration. Then see what you need to eliminate in your life so you can raise your resonance and vibration and ascend with others who are doing the same. An example of this is to look at your relationships. Do they raise your resonance and vibration or lower it?

Each and every one of you is on a path of ascension. The ascension is you raising your level of resonance and vibration. The only way you can raise your resonance and vibration is to release old, dense vibrational wounding from around your heart within you first and then releasing old, dense vibrational energy in aspects of your life that no longer serves your ascension process. The ascension process is living your soul's divine plan.

You are already living your soul's divine plan, activate your resonance and vibration, activate your consciousness to you, to loving, honoring and valuing you.

It is time to activate your consciousness to growth, self mastery, and self love. Many are at a crucial point of ending what no longer serves them and serves their ascension in their soul's divine plan.