A Message for September 2019

A Call to Action

From the Archangelic Realm of Michel this is Michael and We come to you as you are now moving into a new aspect of your life in this time, space continuum. Many are moving to a jumping off point, an intersection or a crossroads.

As you now move into your month of September, you are moving into a period of acceleration towards what you say you want in your life, towards the new and an acceleration of leaving the old behind. Whatever is transpiring in your life at this time, you will see in your month of September a beginning period. It is a beginning of acceleration. For many it could be an acceleration of fully releasing the old and seeing the old for what it really is, perhaps acceleration towards the new.

What is transpiring for many are beginnings and endings. It is time to look at what is transpiring in your life. Time to look at your old habits, patterns and rituals and make firm decisions and choices.

Look now at the doorway behind you and the doorway ahead of you. Many are in the middle of the old and the new. Many look behind them and earnestly trying to do their best to release the old. When they look ahead of them they see an open doorway and nothingness through it. In many ways many individuals are in between old, dense vibrational, dogmatic belief systems and nothingness. They are looking through a new doorway and deciding now to release the old. Release old behaviors, what no longer serves them and relationships that do not champion their highest good and raise their resonance and vibration once and for all.

You can do this by looking at the open door behind you to the old, and take what you have learned from the old and old relationships. You can take all the knowledge you have gained, see where you have grown and release the rest. You can release what doesn't serve you, what no longer resonates for you, what lowers your resonance and vibration. You then can make a final decision to close that door and lock it shut and move on.

Many see this yet have been mired in it for quite some time.

You have reached a point in your life as you move into your month of September to accelerate this process. It is time to take action. Your month of September begins a period of action. It begins a period of time to take definitive action. Action to close the door behind you to release what no longer serves you and definitive action to move forward and toward what you say you want.

Those who have been moving in a committed personal process are beginning to fully understand this. They are realizing through periods of trial and error that it is now time to move forward and release the old. They are seeing how the old no longer serves them. How old behaviors, old relationships no longer serve them. They are seeing the truth in relationships and the old. It is now time to move towards what raises your resonance and vibration. Moving toward the relationships that raise your resonance and vibration.

We have been speaking to you about creating a new collective consciousness. This is what We mean by that. Moving towards the relationships that raise your resonance and vibration, where there is a balance of giving and receiving. Relationships where you are resonating and vibrating at a similar or not the same level with another. Where the thought process is the same. It is now time to move from where this is not present in relationships and where you may be fighting to get this. Where you are hoping an other will shift and change and now ending what no longer serves you.

If you are committed to growth, committed to moving forward and towards what you say you want in this lifetime, you are beginning a period of an accelerated process to begin to fully have that and opening the depth and breadth of your heart space.

It is now time to close that door behind you and lock it shut.

Many peer through the open doorway ahead and wonder what is on the other side of it. For some when they do this, it raises their safety and security issues, your issues related to your need to be safe and secure. You have a need to know what is in the unknown so you will be safe and secure.

It is time to look at yourself and utilize what you have gained in knowledge, see where you have grown, and realize all along you have been safe and secure. You have moved from where you were to where you are now. Can you look at your process, see what you have accomplished, see where you are, look at your life and see the powerfulness in you. See that where you are now is not where you were one year ago, five or ten years ago. You have grown to a point within the powerfulness of yourself to know that you matter. Know that your talents, gifts, endeavors and modalities matter. More importantly, you matter for being who you are.

If in fact all of this resonates for you, look at the door behind you and through it. Then ask yourself, what resonates and what no longer resonates? When you see what no longer resonates ask, does that serve me. Does it serve what I say I want? Does it add to the foundation that I have built to move forward through the open doorway ahead of me into the nothingness of the new? Is anything beyond the doorway to the old an ingredient that I can take with me that will add to the foundation I have built so I can move into the new and move into a collective consciousness with others who are on the same pathway as me toward self mastery?

Your month of September begins an accelerated period in time for you to take definitive action if you so choose. It is definitive action to make a choice to close the door behind you and open your heart space in intimacy with others who resonate and vibrate with you. Make this, if you so choose, your intention, your plan. "I am now forming relationships in balance with those who resonate and vibrate with me. They have the same mission and purpose in this lifetime as I."

Begin now to move forward into the consciousness of love, peace, community, harmony and equality.

It is now time to end struggling in relationships.
It is now time to have what you say you want.

Many find this daunting and challenging. The reason for this is because there is a shift in the configuration of your nervous system to having what you say you want as opposed to struggling and fighting the deprivation of not having what you say you want. Thus, remaining in your comfort zone. What We are saying to you now just might be rattling that comfort zone. The comfort zone of staying in the old of what you know and is familiar to you.

Many are being called to move to a greater level in their soul's divine plan. In this month of September you are being called upon to pay attention and immerse yourself in your soul's purpose in your soul's divine plan. Move within and begin to feel what is important to you. Move into the knowingness that if you remain in the old, in the old relationship, it will just hold you in the old. It will wear me down as I continue old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors.

It is time to break free. Your month of September begins a period of action, a call to action. Action to make definitive decisions and choices based upon where you are headed in your soul's divine plan. The doorway before you, as you peer through it into nothingness is calling you to take the next step in your souls divine plan.
