A Message for February 2022

Be Gracious to You

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are opening up to new parameters in your life. In many ways moving through the low, dense toxicity that is transpiring in your third dimensional realm right now. It is about the juxtaposition of your energy and the energy outside of you in your third dimensional realm as you exit your month of January and move into your month of February in 2022. You are opening up to a more powerful sense of self, a newness of the sense of self, a grandness of self and shifting the relationship you are having with your-self.

As We said to you when we came to you in 2021 and especially the last three months of 2021 where you moved within and released your attachments to the third dimensional realm and grandly looked at your-self. You looked at your-self graciously and in a new authentic and transparent way and released old habits, patterns, rituals behaviors and wounding. You now have moved into your new year of 2022 into January that was a month of trepidation for many, a month of newness for many, a month of oldness for many.

As you moved into your month of January We asked you to move into it with ease and grace to see what was transpiring within you and within the depth and breadth of your heart space. And now that you are moving into your new month of February it is about moving into a greater sense of love of self. A graciousness of self.

For many the energetic flow in your year of 2022 so far has been blocked because of the low and denseness of the energy that is transpiring in your third dimensional realm right now. It is the juxtaposition of your energy and the energy of the old. What is transpiring in the third dimensional realm is old and many are seeing this and construing it as old. As We said to you when We came to you with the overview of your year of 2022 We said that you will see the old aspects of the third dimensional realm continue to take place. Many are becoming "sick and tired" of what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm and not sure how to navigate through it with the new energetic self.

You are continually seeing the old aspects of the third dimensional realm outside of you perpetrated. And you are not quite sure how you can navigate through it in the newness of self. This is what your month of January was for. For many it was moving deeper within to fully see what you need to begin to release within you to move to a higher realm of self. A higher realm of being. A higher realm of who you are. A higher realm of the powerfulness of you, the greatness of you so you can move in a full multi-dimensional beingness of self no longer attached to the third dimensional realm outside of you.

Many are becoming dismayed in life. Many are losing and not finding the excitement for life because what is being perpetrated in the world outside of you is old. It is the old world of form outside of you that no longer resonates for you. So many are moving through this life right now gingerly and not quite sure what to do and in many ways who to be for that matter.

So as you move into your month of February it is a month of nurturing, loving, honoring and valuing you. If need be taking a step back from the third dimensional realm and move into the full beingness of self. Move into a higher dimensional realm of being who you are that is removed for the third dimensional realm.

What We ask each and every one of you to do is to continue to release your attachments to the third dimensional realm, detach from what and who no longer serves your highest good. In relationships with others you are now "raising the bar". This is because you are moving into a higher realm of consciousness, a higher realm of awareness, a higher realm of being that has nothing to do with the third dimensional realm outside of you.

In your month of January many have moved through a shadow period, a dark night of the soul because of the illusions that have been perpetrated in their life up until this moment in time and how you have attached your-self to them. The illusions are fading, they are leaving and they are growing old. The illusion of the third dimensional realm outside of you is growing old for many. Many who have immersed themselves in the third dimensional realm and now see it, are no longer being titillated by the illusion of the old world of form.

So as this translates for each and every one of you it is about opening up to a new realm of consciousness within you. This will take some time. The first three months of your year of 2022 is a navigation period of the new. Many are moving into a newness of self where there is nothing familiar to them outside of them. What we mean by this is looking outside of your-self for a hit to the nervous system to raise your resonance and vibration.

Many are now gingerly navigating the new you at a higher realm of consciousness and what is transpiring in the world outside of you. When you look outside of you at the third dimensional realm there is nothing familiar any longer. What is familiar is the old. What We mean by this being familiar is you know the old, see the old and feel the old resonance and vibration. You feel the old energy, see the old denseness and see the old folly of the third dimensional realm. You feel the denseness of the energy in the third dimensional realm but as you raise your resonance and vibration within you there is no familiarity in the third dimensional realm outside of you.

So you are now walking in unfamiliar territory, uncharted waters that you have never walked through before. It is all new. And this is what We have been saying to you about the new collective consciousness. It is a newness within your-self. It is not in any way, shape or form or a juxtaposition to the third dimensional realm outside of you. You are standing in many ways adjacent to the third dimensional realm. It is as if there is an energetic wall between you at a new high vibration, a new consciousness, a new realm of being and the old world of form. And now you are learning how to navigate this.

This is what is transpiring and what you will continue to experience in your month of February. It is a month of love and nurturing and for many learning how to nurture the newness of self. Nurture the unfamiliarity that is transpiring in your life right now. This is because there is nothing familiar for you in the third dimensional realm any longer. In many ways nothing resonates for you in the third dimensional realm. What transpires with this is it begins to shake up your nervous system. This is because your nervous system is conditioned to look outside of your-self, see something familiar and move towards it. This is where safety and security is concerned.

So now you look outside of you in the world and many see nothing familiar and feel nothing familiar. What happens with this is it begins to trigger your safety and security issues inside of you. Am I safe and secure in the world outside of me? Will I be safe and secure in the world outside of me? This is transpiring because of the newness and the new realm of consciousness of self at a higher resonance and vibration. You have released your attachments to the third dimensional realm. If in fact you continue to move through this process of releasing your attachments to the old world of form outside of you there will be nothing to attach to. Therefore there may be nothing familiar in the third dimensional realm outside of you and why We have been stressing to you to create a new collective consciousness with new wonderful and most glorious souls who are moving through this similar process so you can be in that collective conscious of a new higher realm of energy. A new higher realm of being. A new multi-dimensional realm of being.

This is what is transpiring for many. Many are grasping outside of themselves for something familiar but it is just not there.

You are creating something new within you that is familiar within your-self. This it is why it is important and imperative that you create a new collective consciousness for those who have moved to the depth of their souls space to shift and change and become a new Christ Consciousness-ed person. Where your familiarity is of a high vibration within the depth and breadth of your heart space and learning how to navigate the world outside of you from the newness of you.
