A Message for October 2024

Dispensing Old Belief Systems

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving through the depth and breadth of your heart space and opening up to the grandness and greatness of self and moving into your month of October. It is a period of time you are going through on your earthly plain. We told you about a three month period in your month of September and the importance of these three months in your year of 2024.

What is transpiring as you move into your month of October, you are moving into a vortex of energy. A vortex of energy is moving in from 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th dimensions that are moving in for a clearing and cleansing process. What is transpiring as it has been within you individually and what you have moved through in your personal process up until now, is the upheaval of your wounds within your personal realm. It is the upheaval of old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors. The upheaval of your defense system that is leading to the cracking of your mask. All of this transpiring within you.

What is transpiring in your third dimensional realm as you move into your month of October is a vortex of energy is hovering over your earthly plain. In many ways it is an equalizing balance of energy. This vortex of energy is moving in to dredge up the old. The old within you and the old within your earthly plain, the general consensus of the earthly plain. Much will be revealed as it is already.

This energy is an equalizing energy or a balancing energy. You are moving from extremes. You can see this transpiring on your earthly plain. The extremes of life. Either / Or, right or wrong, good or bad. Moving from the extremes of life into balance of life which is what you are doing personally if in fact you subscribe to a personal process as We have been bringing you through the last periods of time We have been coming to you.

It is important to understand that you are moving through a period of time. We come in to you on what you call your monthly basis but what is transpiring is you are moving into periods of time. And through various vortexes of energy that are hovering over your earthly plain.

As you move into your month of October what will be settling in is a vortex of energy that will begin to dredge up the old. This transpired for you some time ago but it was targeted for the individual personal process. The energy now that will be hovering over your earthly plain will be targeted for the divine plan of your earthly plain en masse. As you are part of that divine plan because you are in your soul's divine plan and living it purposefully you will take part in this if in fact your resonance and vibration is raised to a level where you can now tell the difference as the adult.

We have been leading you through a process as many have where you can tell the difference between the adult and the wounded child. Where you can now repent that wounded child and it is the adult leading your life. You are shifting from where the wounded child was leading your life into the adult leading your life, raising your awareness and consciousness to self. In many ways what is transpiring in the three month period that began in your month of September through your months of October and November. It will be a deep revealing of what is transpiring on your earthly plain en masse.

This energy is an equalizing energy or balancing energy. If you are looking into the mirror of the self, you can see that every one of you is moving toward a more balanced way of being thus being who you are in the authenticity and transparency of self. What is transpiring on your earthly plain is just that. Moving into a place of transparency and authenticity. What is being revealed is the antithesis of that. What is now transpiring are those on your earthly plain are revealing who they truly are through old, archaic belief systems.

We have said to you that there is a difference between belief and truth. A belief and knowing. As you move through the personal process, you are looking at your old beliefs that are conditioned and programmed into you by mom and dad and what has transpired in past lives. What you have done in your personal process is have those beliefs raised to the surface through your wounding, your defenses and your mask. It is how you have built your mask. Because you were said to believe this is who you are through the conditioning and programming that created your wounds and the defense of those wounds and then built your mask. But as you move through a personal process you will see how those beliefs come up. A belief that I am not good enough. I am not perfect enough. I am not worthy enough. These are beliefs. It is about dispensing of these beliefs and shifting into what you know. I know that I am good enough. I know that I am perfect enough. I know that I am worthy of love. Why? Because I am who I am in the depth and breadth of my heart space in the God Consciousness of who I am. I am love. I am equal. I am all inclusive. I am who I am.

The process has been dispensing of your belief systems. What is transpiring now en masse on your earthly plain is the vortex of energy that is hovering over your earthly plain that is entering into your month of October is forming. It will be fully formed in your month of November. Thus, providing a knowing. That you will see old belief systems come to the fore and quite possibly being dispensed of.

This is what you can expect in your month of October moving into your month of November where the level of intensity of these energies will be present.

What is important to see is the difference between belief and knowing. I know who I am. I no longer believe my wounds. I no longer believe my defenses. I no longer believe that I have to create a mask to be loved outside of myself. I no longer need to give myself up to be loved. You are dispensing of old belief systems on a personal basis. What you will be seeing in your month of October through your month of November those old belief systems being revealed en masse on your earthly plain.

What will be transpiring in your month of October is more of the same process that We have been moving you through in the last three to four to five months. A continuation within yourself to the truth of who you are and who you are being. The personal process is set up so you can move into a greater depth of loving, honoring and valuing you. So you then can love, honor and value another. It is not unconditional. It is simply, loving, honoring and valuing you and all aspects of you so then you can look outside of yourself and love, honor and value another based upon what they have chosen for themselves. Irregardless of whether you agree with them or not.

It is important now to open up your heart space as you move through this crucial period of time on your earthly plain in the soul plan of your earthly plain. Because it is perfect. You are perfect. It is perfect. And the process is perfect.
