A Message for September 2025

Opening New Doors to the New in Your Life

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into new parameters in your life and moving into your new month of September opening up to the grandness and greatness of self. In many ways that is what will be transpiring in your month of September, opening new doors to the new in your life.

What transpired in your month of August was a respite and a time to recalculate and recalibrate yourself. Many letting go of old attachments to relationships, old definitions to relationships. Letting go of old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors in relationships. And moved to a respite period to see what transpired in the first half of your year of 2025.

You are now moving into your month of September and new doorways are opening. New chapters are beginning as you are closing old chapters, old doorways in your life. Some are locking those doorways shut. You have come to an end of a portion or fragment of the soul's divine plan. As moved through to the end of your month of August and into your month of September, in the beginning of the month you are closing old doorways to the old. Old doorways to old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors. Opening up your heart space to the new. Opening up your heart space in many ways to try something new as the new you.

What is transpiring is a transition period from the old into the new within yourself.

As you moved through your month of August what was revealed to many were old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that they were perpetrating in relationships. Ancient, old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors and attachments in relationships in your personal life. As that has come to an end, many are having "Ah Ha" moments. Revelations. Moving into a more peaceful place within themselves. Many seeing how they have given up their needs. Seeing how they have given themselves away to simply be loved. And upon seeing this realized how they have not taken care of their needs that were not met in relationships. This is simply an example of what has transpired for many at the end of your month of August.

As that revelation transpires, many are saying, I now realize the folly of my way. I now realize that in some relationships I am chasing after what is unavailable. And in realizing the folly of your way behind that was the inner work you have done to fortify the depth and breadth of you healing the trauma of the wounded child. As the old ends in the divine soul plan of your life, you have now fortified yourself with a foundation within yourself. Where you now can as the adult, see the ending, feel the ending and close the door to that. In order for that to take place you must consciously say, this is the end and I see the folly of my way. I see the old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors. I see what is transpiring and see it more clearly now than I ever have before in my human existence on this earthly plain. Seeing this as you move through the evolutionary process of your soul plan.

As you move into your month of September, the first half will be a transition period.

As you have moved through the first half of your year of great expansion and moved into a contraction in your month of August and moved into the contraction so you could see what has transpired in your life, you are seeing everything more clearly now since you have taken a respite or a step back to move within to see the reality, see where you have grown, see what has transpired. As many have done that you are now seeing fully and more clearly than you ever have the old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors and the folly of your way. The folly of your waxy being, looking at relationships through rose colored glasses. Now that you have seen that you are no longer shaming or judging yourself about it, you are seeing it as an end. A chapter closing. The door closing behind you. Since you have built the foundation within by healing aspects of the wounded child, being within the trauma of the old, as the end comes feelings will come up. The feelings aren't as deep or dramatic as they would have been if in fact you didn't do the work. This is why the inner work is so important.

As you are now at the precipice as you move into the month of September you are ready to transition from the old into the new. There will be many who will understand it and realize it and slam the old door shut. There will be some who will sit with it, perhaps processing it, letting it rush over you, move into it and gently transition into closing the door.

Your first half of September will be a transition period from the old to the new for many. What has transpired for the wonderful and most glorious souls moving through this process is a revelation period. A revelation to a new self. A revelation that your needs are important as anyone's. What about your needs? What do you need? What are your boundaries? How do you feel? What do you need to express? You are letting go of, if in fact I speak my truth, state my needs, set my boundaries it will cause conflict with others. That has transpired for many. They are seeing that the only conflict was within yourself. The conflict of holding on to that or the conflict of releasing that. Many are choosing and it is important if you so choose, this is a crucial place in your evolutionary process in the human form.

By coming to this realization and closing the door to the old whatever that may be for you is a crucial and important step in your evolutionary process in the third dimensional realm in your soul plan. As you close these doors and release this old behavior that no longer serves your highest good you are moving to another deeper place of self love. As these doors close, doors will open after those doors close. Opening into the new. A new fortified and powerful you based upon loving, honoring and valuing who you are. Thus, quite possibly moving into new healthier relationships based upon what is transpiring right now.

As you move into the beginning of your month of September you are moving into a crucial period of time in the evolutionary process in your soul plan. Doors opening to the new. It might happen more quickly for some and not so quickly for some. As you move to the midpoint of September that is when the door will close. What will happen for many, it is not about you opening the new doors. The way in which you will open the new door is with the new energetic vibration within you after you have released these old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that keep you in attachment to what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm. Keep you attached to the old relationships. It is simply another step into deeply loving, honoring and valuing you. As if to say, What about me?

As you move into this and release all of that old you are raising your resonance and vibration. Many are beginning to feel that transition. Many will be moving into a place where their resonance and vibration will be raising and they will feel that. It will not be sudden and momentary, it will be a subtle raising as you move through September into the midpoint of the month. Then the energy will shift within you. Many are feeling that shift because they have released these aspects of the old and the energetic attachments to all of that. It is an energetic shift. It is not so much a shift in your third dimensional realm, it is an energetic shift of ending the old. When you end the old and close those doors you are releasing the old, dense vibrational energy attached to the old habits, patterns rituals and behaviors. It is an energetic shift. I no longer need to perpetrate those old behaviors at a low dense vibrational energy in the third dimensional realm in old relationships. As I release those old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors I am also releasing the energy attached to them. The low, dense vibrational energy that keeps you attached to the form of the old relationships. As you release that and close the door to that, your energy raises and shifts and you will feel in many ways lighter. You will feel more powerful, self assured and a greater depth of loving, honoring and valuing you.

As you move through your month of September from the midpoint to the end of September is when the new behaviors, the new habits, patterns, rituals, the new horizons and what is beyond the new door will open for you. It is not so much that you will open the door, the door will open itself. Quite possibly the new relationships that you are looking for are on the other side of that doorway and will present themselves. What will shift and change is your relationship to the third dimensional realm because you have shifted and change the relationship you are having with yourself and raised your resonance and vibration. As you raise that resonance and vibration you will no longer be attached to any old low, dense vibrational energy of the third dimensional realm.

In many ways what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you in your corporate systems, your government systems, your political systems, your attachments and relationships to that will shift and change. You will begin to see the myths before you.

In many ways this is what you can look forward to as you move through your month of September and to the end of the month and move into this great growth period in your soul divine plan.
