A Message for March 2026

Emerging Into the full Beingness of Who You Are

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as are opening to the grandness and greatness of self as you are moving into your month of March. A forward energetic month, moving forward in your life opening up to the grandness and greatness of self and moving into the assertive masculine energy in your month of March. Opening your heart space and moving into the assertive place inside of yourself. The assertive place of being who you are. Speaking your truth with love, peace, community, harmony and equality. Opening up and in many ways standing for yourself as what may be happening in the third dimensional realm outside of you may move you to twists and turns on the pathway.

We said to you when We came to you in your month of February, many of you will veer off the course of peace, community, harmony, equality and love. As you veer off that course it is about raising your awareness and consciousness to know that you have veered off the course and have compassion for yourself to move from the soul self to the human self. And knowing that as you are on this human journey in the third dimensional realm and at times you will veer off the course. Veer off the soul path and know that it is a learning experience so you can collect yourself in your vernacular, move within, see what has transpired, walk on the pathway and take responsibility yourself. But knowing you can move into compassion for yourself that you may have veered off the course of the soul path.

What is most important to understand as you move on the soul journey, the soul path, you are still moving on the human path as well. As We said, it takes time to merge the two. At times they merge and you are moving freely on the path in the human self and the soul self but there are times you will veer off that path, move into the human form and quite possibly move in a different direction. But it is most important as We said to you in your month of February, as you veer off that path it is to know that is the human condition. And know in your consciousness to take responsibility for it, know what transpired, move within, love, honor and value yourself with compassion and know you can move back on the soul course and see what you have learned what the gifts and the lessons are from that. What you might call in your vernacular, a transgression.

It is about honoring and valuing yourself and moving in with compassion for the self and have compassion for others as they are on their soul path as opposed to making it strictly about you.

In many ways as you move into your month of March, it is about moving forward in your life. Taking those steps forward in your life. Speaking your truth. Being who you are. And moving into the assertive energy of the masculine in your month of March. That will prevail throughout your month of March. You might find obstacles along the way and tested where speaking your truth with love, peace, community, harmony and equality and opening up your heart space in many ways to stand for yourself. Not stand up for yourself but stand for yourself in love, peace, community, harmony and equality of the self.

What is transpiring as you move through your month of March, you may be tested. Tested where you are on the soul path and the human condition kicks into place in your vernacular and open up your heart space to loving, honoring and valuing you. When that transpires, if it transpires on your pathway throughout your month of March is to know to move into a greater sense of loving, honoring and valuing you. Knowing that if in fact you make a mistake in your vernacular, it is about loving, honoring and valuing yourself and having compassion for yourself. Knowing that there is no right or wrong or good or bad, no either / or. It is just what it is designed in your soul plan for these certain circumstances to come up in your life so you can see where you are on the pathway on the soul journey. Where loving, honoring and valuing yourself is concerned. Where compassion is concerned, and in many ways where forgiveness for the self is concerned.

As you move through your month of March in many ways you will be tested with all of that. You will be tested where loving, honoring and valuing you is concerned. Where self compassion is concerned. Where speaking your truth is concerned in the depth and breadth of your heart space in the beingness of self. In many ways your month of March is a month of emergence into the world into the full beingness of who you are. At times you may veer off that soul path into the human path and you may veer off from time to time so you can move into creating the self and also seeing the lessons and gifts when you do veer off from the soul path.

In many ways you can look at the soul path and the human path as a crisscrossing of life. You may cross to the left, cross to the right and at times merge with the soul self. This is because you are in the human form. And in the human form you are here to learn and grow. Without these tests in your vernacular, how would you learn and grow within yourself? Your month of March is about an emergence from the cocoon of the old self. It is a re-birth in the emergence in the full beingness of yourself. Taking assertive steps forward in life. That is all a choice dear ones. Do you choose to stay in the cocoon of the old or move into the new into the full beingness of who you are? As you move into that full beingness of who you there are at times the pendulum will move dominantly to the left and dominantly to the right. Because you are in this learning phase of learning who you truly are. Speaking your truth. Being who you are. It is an emergence into the world. And it is quite different for many.

You are emerging from the cocoon of the old into the emergence of the blossoming of the new. In many ways you will be tested with that as you move forward in your month of March. Know dear ones, that everything that is set up for you in your soul plan will transpire for you to learn, to grow. To love, honor and value you.
