A Message for July 2026

A Growth Period into Your Soul Self.

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are now moving into the parameters of your life. What We mean by that is you are living all facets of your life in the third dimensional realm in the human form and now accessing all of those aspects of yourself so you can move out in the world in the full beingness of yourself. In many ways what is transpiring for you now as you move into your month of July and out of your month of June, you are now beginning to access the multi-dimensional self. The multi-dimensional self being, living in the third dimensional realm in the human form and fully connect with the soul self. Merging into all the parameters of your life as a multi-dimensional being so you can see all aspects of life based upon the soul self or the soul imprint.

In many ways what is transpiring for you is you are looking at what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm and many are not understanding it from a soul perspective. As you move through the month of July and more readily access the soul self or the soul imprint, you may become disillusioned about what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of yourself. You may not understand it from that soul perspective because you are accessing more fully that aspect of your soul imprint or your soul life. Even though you may understand it in your mental body it is not resonating and vibrating in your heart space.

As We said to you many times before, what is transpiring in the human form resides in the mental body. As you integrate the soul self it is integrating into your heart space where the soul self resides. Moving from the mental body into your heart space. And as you live in the depth and breadth of your heart space in the human form you will release any attachments, all the attachments or most of the attachments you have in the third dimensional realm outside of you. So that continues in your month of July as you move forth in your month of July and beginning the second half of your year of 2026.

Doors are opening. Doors are opening from the soul perspective. Not so much in the linear perspective of your life but doors are opening and many are now closing old doors to the old where the human perspective is concerned in the third dimensional realm and moving through the new doorways that are opening in the soul perspective. As the soul begins to encompass you and you are now resonating and vibrating at a higher resonance and vibration. What is transpiring is your resonance and vibration is increasing as you let go of the old, the old wounding and the old trauma. And moving freely being who you are from a soul perspective.

The most important aspect in all of this as you move through your month of July, is paying attention to raising your consciousness and awareness when you are living, in your vernacular, in your mental body. Noticing, becoming aware and more conscious when you are in your mental body in a linear form connected or attached to the third dimensional realm. Then consciously move into your heart space. Many will fluctuate between that. As you are moving into your month of July based upon all that We have said to you in the previous months of your year of 2026, you are now ready to move into that consciousness. The full soul consciousness of self. Paying attention to what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm in the world outside of you in the human form but moving into your heart space into the soul imprint and asking yourself, what resonates with me and what no longer resonates for me from that perspective. It is most important that you delineate between the mental body when you are functioning in the third dimensional realm in the mental body and then when you are functioning in your heart space to move into the truth of your being. So you can freely move through those open doorways being who you are. Many are finding the effects of this in their physical body.

As we said to you in your month of June, pay attention to what you ingest in your physical body. What you are putting into it in your vernacular. This is because it is most important to maintain a high vibrational way of being from the soul perspective. Paying attention to what you ingest in the physical body that may in your vernacular, weigh you down or bring you back into a dense vibration of self. It is most important to see what transpires in your life or what you partake in. The relationships you partake in in the third dimensional realm that may lower your resonance and vibration. You are moving into, as We said in your month of June, a new stratosphere of life, a new stratosphere of being so you can now encapsulate all of that into the beingness of you and who you are right now and moving into more of We Consciousness with this.

In many ways you are refining and defining the relationships you are having in the third dimensional realm. Many may find that various relationships in the third dimensional realm may fall off because as you move through this soul process and live through the soul perspective and know that this will be your norm moving forward, it is most important that you see and make yourself conscious and aware to what you are relationally involving yourself with in the third dimensional realm. However, it is not about isolating and separating yourself. This is because now that you are resonating and vibrating at a certain level it is about maintaining that energy, containing that energy as you move forward in the human form because you have therefore incarnated into the human form.

What We are offering is a new way of being and what We mean by fully being who you are. Looking at the third dimensional realm outside of yourself at your attachments to it. As the human would attach to it through wounding and trauma and raising your awareness and vibration. As We said to you in your month of June in your year of 2026, you will fluctuate between the heart space and the mental body. But what will be transpiring for many in your month of July is your awareness and consciousness to the fluctuation, to the movement between the heart space and the mental body. Raising your awareness and consciousness because this is another step in this process as you move into the month of July and now begin the second half of your year of 2026. A period of time of raising your awareness and consciousness to the full beingness of who you are and your awareness and consciousness of your attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you. Or the importance of your attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of yourself.

The question to ask yourself as you move through the month of July, beginning the second half of your year of 2026 when you encounter what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you is, What am I feeling? How does that make me feel? What is that activating or triggering inside of myself? And be with those feelings that are surfacing inside of you. Then move into your heart space to begin to nurture those aspects of yourself knowing that you are resonating and vibrating at a higher level as you move through the open doorways in the second half of your year of 2026.

All in all dear ones, this is a growth period. A growth period into the soul self. A growth period into the depth and breadth in your vernacular, of your spiritual beingness. A growth period of releasing your attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you, the need for validation and gratification from outside of you, the need to prove who you are on this pathway. Now accessing a greater depth of your talents, gifts and abilities as you move into your month of July.

It is important to refine and define what your talents, gifts and abilities are so you can now incorporate that into the beingness of yourself. And utilizing those talents, gifts and abilities that resonate with you that raise your resonance and vibration so you can raise the resonance and vibration of others on your pathway.

In many ways this is what you can expect as you begin the new journey through the open doorways in your month of July and the second half of your year of 2026.
