A Message for September 2026

A Month of Compassion, Acceptance and Nurturing

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are opening up to the depth of your heart space and the grandness and greatness of self as you are moving from your month of August into your month of September. Opening up now to a greater depth in your heart space. In many ways what is transpiring for many is they are opening up to a greater depth in their heart space to themselves, to their greatness, to who they are and who they are being. Quite possibly looking at their life now and seeing this which is elevating their resonance and vibration.

What is most important to understand as you move into your month of September, it is an opening period. Opening to the grandness and greatness, to the beingness of who you are and to fully being who you are. Many are beginning to feel that opening in their heart space. In many it is a revelation. Many are asking the question, what is transpiring within me right now? I am feeling the energy raising in my physical body. I am feeling old aspects of myself falling off. Many are literally seeing the clarity of those old aspects, those old habits, patterns and rituals, the old trauma, the old wounding and seeing it for what it is.

As you move into your month of September you are beginning to open up to that fruition of self. Many are looking at themselves with an immense amount of clarity that they never had before. As if they separated themselves into two beings. Now fully seeing the wounds of the child, the trauma and as that comes up from time to time they are cognizant and conscious and aware of what is transpiring. And how to utilize their talents based upon a deeper love of self. What is also transpiring is this and it is new for many in the context that they are now moving to a higher level of loving, honoring and valuing themselves. More so a greater level of compassion for themselves when they move through shadow periods, when the old trauma and old wounding surfaces. When all of that transpires, they are realizing that what the inner wounded child has always needed is that compassion for where they are.

As you move into your month of September it is about exercising compassion. Exercising compassion for yourself and others. It is not so much as you are moving now in a linear passage way, it is a dual passage way as the human existence and a spiritual existence, the soul existence. Many are moving on and seeing a parallel path where you can access both. Move in the human condition on the human pathway, now moving along on the spiritual pathway. And since you have raised your level of awareness and consciousness to both worlds, accessing both worlds, in the human condition accessing the spiritual condition, the soul condition and looking at life from the soul perspective, you are now in that pathway moving on it in your month of September. And now it is about raising your level of compassion to self, where you are and where you need compassion simply by asking the question, where am I? And can I accept where I am with compassion? This now is going to be accelerated as you move into your month of September. Compassion. Compassion for yourself and compassion for others. The only way you can have compassion for others on a soul perspective, is by having compassion for yourself and learning that.

Many will be beginning to learn how to have compassion for themselves as they move through periods in their life. Periods of the shadow, the darkness, nurturing the self. Compassion and nurturing. Moving from the mental body of trying to figure out what is transpiring, into the heart space first. Having compassion and nurturing where you are in that moment. It is not about bypassing that any longer. You bypass that by trying to figure out in your mental body in the human form in the human condition what is transpiring so you can fix it so you can avoid feelings. When you begin with compassion and nurturing you can have those feelings and on that pathway through your intentions, what is transpiring be revealed to you after compassion and nurturing and having your feelings. This is the way of the soul path. You are flipping it. You are moving into your heart space and then the mental body. Then you will open up to love, honoring and valuing yourself more deeply. That is what is transpiring for many as they exit your month of August into your month of September. A month of compassion, a month of nurturing yourself and nurturing others who are moving through challenges quite possibly in their life.

What you will be shifting into is more acceptance as you move through your month of September into your months of October, November and December. It is moving into more acceptance of where you are. But most importantly, through acceptance, it is about moving into the aspects of the masculine energy with that where you are now moving into a place of assertiveness out into the world. As you move into the feminine aspects of the self by nurturing with acceptance and compassion which is what we sought from mom and dad and it is from mom dad that we seek that, and from the feminine aspects of others with whom we are interacting with and having relationships with. It is now moving out into the world in the human condition and the soul condition moving more readily into the assertive aspect of the masculine energy.

What you are doing in your month of September is combining both energies. What you are doing is moving in utilizing the feminine energy of acceptance, compassion and nurturing, then taking the masculine aspects of yourself and asserting that out into the world.

Your month of September is about moving into compassion, acceptance and nurturing of the self. Then combining the masculine energy to bring that message out into the world. The message of acceptance, compassion and nurturing, equality, all-inclusiveness. And utilizing the masculine within each and every one of you to bring that out into the world in whatever way you choose. In your modalities, your endeavors, or when you are with someone who may need to hear that.

All-in-all this is what you can expect as you move into your month of September. A month of acceptance, compassion, nurturing. Moving into the feminine energy with that and combining that with the masculine assertive energy to bring this message to the world.
