Are You Hiding in Your Personal Process?

From the Archangelic realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as a doorway is opening for you. Many of you are moving through a doorway, some are looking through a doorway, peeking and peering through a doorway and on the other side of the doorway you may see nothing.

Each and everyone one of you is moving into deeper aspects of yourself and uncovering aspects of yourself. You may be moving deeper into feelings and moving through repressed and suppressed feelings. Some of you are moving through the repressed and suppressed self. Many of you are beginning to realize who you are and realizing your greatness, your powerfulness and your talents and gifts that have been laying dormant. Some of you are skirting the notion to release struggling to survive life and some are beginning to trust. Trusting not only yourself but trusting that you are well taken care of in your universe.

It is now time to refine and define why you are here, your talents and gifts and what you say you want.

You are continuing the process of moving deeper within the depth and breadth of your heart to uncover and reveal aspects of you. Deepening the sense of self and deepening the love of self. Each of you has done this to a certain extent. Now as you move through this precipice, through this corridor and through the doorway to an intersection perhaps, it is time to understand and reveal why you are here.

Many of you can indulge yourselves in the personal process and continue to work on yourself. This is admirable and what you should be doing. However it is important now to see if you are indulging yourself in your personal process and utilizing this as a mask that holds you back from moving out in the world and discovering why you are here and your talents and gifts. In many ways it is time to get on with your life.

You can hide behind your personal process. Are you doing this? Are you saying, "When I do this, when I do that and when I get there then I can do this." However, it is time now if you so choose, to begin to live your life and why you came here and incarnated into this third dimensional realm.

Yes, it is about healing the old wounds. Yes, it is about processing yourself. Yes, it is important to remain in a personal process. The question We have for you is, are you hiding in the personal process and keeping the old paradigm in place. "Until I understand this about myself, until I heal this I cannot do anything in this life." Thus keeping in place the old paradigm and the old behaviors.

It is time now to move through that new doorway. A doorway is opening for you to move on that pathway into the world and make a difference in it whenever you choose to by utilizing your talents and gifts.

Many of you are just remembering your talents and gifts as they are being revealed to you. Many of you are utilizing your talents and gifts. It is of importance now to move through that doorway and begin to live your life.

Are you living your life and moving forward and towards what brings you the greatest amount of joy? Are you doing what brings you the greatest amount of joy? Are you giving to the world with what brings you the greatest amount joy?

Or....

Are you indulging and sinking into yourself in your personal process?

Are you thinking that the only way you will be of service to the world is if you heal this or you heal that?

Are you in a constant state of preparation?

Are you continuing to prepare for life?

It is noble to prepare for this will sustain and maintain your impeccability and integrity to your word. However, many of you continually prepare for life as opposed to being who you are in life.

You can open the doorway, take a risk, trust you and continue in your personal process.

For many of you, your personal process is about fine tuning you. Looking into the mirror, moving through blind spots, utilizing your tools.

Dear Ones, are you ready? Are you ready to move out into the world and begin to live life utilizing your talents and gifts to be of service to the world?

What do you want?

What is your purpose?

Look now at what you are doing in the world and ask what is the purpose for me doing this?

That purpose is self fulfillment first and then giving to the world. In order for you to give to the world with your talents and gifts, it is about knowing and embodying you and your talents and gifts to know they have meaning, value and purpose.

You are valuable and you are relevant right where you are right now, in the moment of now.

It is important to see that you are who you are when you are and that is right now.

Each of you, look at your life. How have you been taken care of? You have what you say you want or asked that it be shown and given to you. How do you receive it?

It is now time to know that you are all worthy for love. You are all worthy. You are love. It is up to each of you to take responsibility for yourself, open your heart and receive love, to know that deep inside of you are your talents and gifts and a power and greatness that you may never have even seen yet, but others already have.

The question is, can you allow that mirror to open your heart to simply affirm that you're lovable, that you're powerful, that you can live and stand in that greatness and live the life that you came here to live?
