

A Message from Archangel Michael Channeled by Jeff Fasano

Gaining Clarity

From the Archangelic realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you as you may be moving through great times of decision, trepidation, and unknowingness. Many are moving through a time of transition and decision and not quite sure where they can trust themselves in the unknown to Be in the unknown and allow yourself to be there and move from moment to moment to moment. In the past We came and spoke to you about being present in the present moment. Allowing the present moment to be exactly what it is as opposed to trying to look for answers again and again.

Right now allow yourself to be present in the present moment of the unknown and allow it to move in a step by step process so the known will come to you to take the next step in your life. Many are shifting to a greater level in their soul development and seeing with greater clarity what they want and need to do where their mission and purpose is concerned. We said this to you at the time of your Lunar eclipse that this is a great time of change. By re-assessing and assessing what is transpiring in your life you are gaining greater clarity as to your soul divine plan and mission and purpose is concerned.

In this step-by-step process you are gaining greater clarity as to what you say you want in your life and greater clarity as to your mission and purpose and what is most important to you. This is transpiring now and has been since the first of your year of 2016.

It is now most important to gain the clarity of your mission and purpose in this lifetime and see if this is where you are placing your talents and gifts and energy. You are now beginning to gain greater clarity as to what is most important to you and your mission and purpose. Also you will gain greater clarity as to the vortex of energy where you are to bring your talents and gifts. It is a step-by-step-process of gaining clarity as to why you are here, what your mission and purpose is.

In the first three months of your year, what is transpiring for many right now is gaining clarity. If it is important to you, look to see if you are in the step-by-step process and being in the present moment as opposed to looking down the road at what decisions to make regarding where, how, what, when and who. In the process allow the clarity to come as to what you are here to bring to the world, its purpose and how you are bringing it top the world. As you gain clarity the next step will be, if it is important, the specific vortex of energy that will open for all of this to take place.

The reason why We came to you previously with a message about being present in the present moment is so you can be present in the moment the clarity comes to you in all aspects of your life.

This is a period of time of gaining clarity, being present in the present moment and being in the unknown of it as the clarity presents itself. This is what is transpiring for those who are ready to take the next step or leap in their soul's divine plan to fully live their mission and purpose in this lifetime.

It is important to surrender to the unknown and be in the process of the unknown so the clarity will come and you will be open to it by simply being in the moment. Release having to know everything and looking for answers for the answers are coming and it is important to be present in your heart space to receive them.

Perhaps if you open your heart space you will be able to see what is in your life right now. Let go of needing to know the answers and begin to be in the moment of the process. Move out of your mental body and into your heart space and trust the process. We are guiding you through the process with messages about gaining clarity, being in the present moment, writing down what you say you want. Allow the process to take care of itself as the clarity comes.

You are retraining the nervous system from the need to try to control everything, and to know in each and every moment what is supposed to transpire, by allowing the step-by-step moment process. You are releasing the need to look ten steps ahead to be in the step you are in in the present moment.

Take the time to look at what has transpired moment to moment up to now to see it has happened rather quickly. The time span for this will move quickly and it has transpired from the beginning of your year up to this point in time. Clarity has come the way in which it is destined to come in your soul's divine plan. What is most important is to see your talents and gifts and how to utilize them to serve others. This is coming to you and has come to you to see it.

It is time to settle down and begin to enjoy the process of clarity. What is transpiring quite possibly is moving to a place of joy within your nervous system as opposed to a place of doom and gloom. This is part of the transition. Moving to a place of joy within yourself as opposed to the continuous questions of what couldn't happen, what will happen, what might happen if in fact it doesn't happen?

Many have gained greater clarity of what they truly want and need as it pertains to their soul's divine plan. It is time to receive the clarity. Many are just beginning to open their heart to receive love and release the blockages to this. You may see the bigger picture yet clarity has just come. As the clarity comes in the step-by-step process then the who, the what, the where, the when and the how will come as you begin to receive it. Many are at this point in the process. You always want to know who, what, when, where and how. The clarity needs to "sink in" and be embodied to then raise the resonance and vibration.

What is also most important at this time is stating your needs and setting your boundaries. For example, you may have been conditioned to take care of the needs of others. Always wondering how to take care of their needs as opposed to defining your needs. In this case the decisions are not based on your needs they are based upon another's needs. Many are beginning to shift the old conditioning and being shown it where you are right now because you are beginning to honor, value and love yourself and your talents and gifts. This is part of gaining clarity.

If for you it is about taking care of another what may come up is, am I good enough to take care of them if that is what they want? This is the old behavior. It is important to see your relevance and importance as to what is transpiring in your world and in relationships. The clarity you are gaining now is an affirmation of your talents and gifts and your power and greatness. If you know what you say you want, it will come to you in the step-by-step process of gaining clarity.

Many of you have cleared out a good deal of the old in your life and now in a place of the unknown. You may be feeling lost and not sure where to go, who to be with, how to do it and what to do. You are in a place of great shift and change.

Pockets of energy are opening. When you are seeking clarity and looking at what is most important to you, the clarity comes and it is very clear. What has become clear to you in your life is now being compounded upon. Perhaps what has become clear is your mission and purpose in this lifetime. This is another step in clarity. The next step may be how to bring your talents and gifts to the world.

When clarity comes in your life be in the present moment when it comes and give thanks for it in the moment. Feel your feelings of anxiousness, nervousness, unknowingness, not good enough perhaps. Allow the feelings to surface. If you are receiving clarity, you are then on the right and perfect path. Allow the step-by-step process, the answers are coming. Be present in the present moment to receive the information that is coming. Receive the clarity, receive another, open your heart to realize that you are receiving clarity. If you receive the clarity moment by moment by moment the next aspect of clarity will come and the next then the next and so on. In this period of time that is happening quite quickly once you commit to it, the answers will come in an organic and natural fashion. If you allow yourself to be present in the present moment, open your heart to receive, you will simply know you have received the clarity that is supposed to come to you in your soul's divine plan. Perhaps you are looking for the clarity and it has already come?

You might feel that it is time to move to a specific vortex of energy. If it is in your soul's divine plan to do this, the reason why it may not have come yet is because lay lines have not been laid down sufficiently as of yet.

When clarity comes it comes into the mental body first. It then moves into the heart space. It then needs to move into the physical beingness to embody it. As an aspect of clarity comes to you it comes with a feeling, you feel it. It is then embodied in the physical body and then the knowingness of it comes. As the information comes and the clarity comes it begins to be absorbed into your physical beingness. It then takes time for the knowingness of it to settle in. You may believe it in your mental body but it needs to move into your physical beingness to become a part of the essence of who you are. This is the process many are moving through at this time. It may not be as quick as you would like it to be.

The reason this has a specific duration of time is so you can allow yourself to be in the present moment and allow the process to organically take care of itself. It is then you will organically transition in neutrality to the next step.

The human needs stimulation. Many are looking for their nervous system to be stimulated by something. It is important to understand that this is no longer the process. If you have reached a point in your evolutionary process where you have released the need on some level for stimulation, the need for nervous system to be titillated will no longer be present. Yet the conditioning or memory of this may still be present and you are still looking for it. Perhaps looking for the drama. It is no longer about this. It is about a transition in a process of transformation. Many of you are transforming in an organic and natural place and things are taking place naturally and organically and you are opening your heart space to receive it and feel it. You then can begin to trust others in the process. It is not about the nervous system being titillated it is about receiving in your heart space and feeling it in the process.

In many ways you are beginning to move out of a cocoon of your life, moving from isolation and separation and now willing to include others in your heart space. You can now ask for support through this process and allow it to come to you energetically. During this process constantly remind yourself of the clarity that you are receiving. You can move into community with others so you can share what is transpiring for you. As you move into old patterns and blind spots, looking for the stimulation, looking to need to know everything, you can move into community to be reminded of this.

Life will take care of itself as you make your intentions and make a list of what you say you want. What is transpiring now for many is they are clear as to what they say they want and this will transpire but not in the time factor that you might want it to.

There is a need now to create community, harmony and equality so others can move within this to state their needs, speak their truth and simply express where they are. This will allow those who seem lost, seeking guidance and support to move into community, harmony and equality to be heard.

If this resonates for you, allow others to be heard. Many are moving through a similar process as you and based upon their old conditioning and feelings that come up they need to share what is transpiring. Many have suppressed and repressed it and held it in. Because of this the energy builds up in the physical body and some move into a place of feeling overwhelmed and not sure what to do. It is through the release of what is repressed and suppressed where they will gain greater clarity. By allowing themselves to release the energy they will then need to be heard. It is most important that this release takes place no matter how one thinks or feels about the release. Many now are in need to allow themselves to release the suppressed and repressed energy within them. Once it is released, whatever that may be, the cacophony in the mental body perhaps, the unsuredness, the clarity will then follow. Many now are seeking this because of their isolation and separation and the fear they have of opening up and thus feeling exposed or vulnerable.

This is important now and perhaps you can use your talents and gifts with others who are seeking this so they have a safe place to land.