

Archangel Michael Speaks
February 2017
Outlook

A Call to Action

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you as you are opening up to new parameters in your life as you move forward in 2017. 2017 will be year of rapid ascension, a year of acceleration, assertiveness and urgency as you move forward toward what you say you want. You are moving steadfastly into a new collective consciousness.

What is transpiring in the world outside of you during these days of unrest is moving you toward the creation of a new collective consciousness. This monthly step by step process We are bringing you will move you to a deeper collective consciousness within you. In order to begin the formation of a new collective consciousness that collective consciousness needs to reside within you. So as We take you through this step by step process during 2017 it is important to keep in mind what is transpiring in the outer aspects of your third dimensional realm and seeing as well how you can contribute to a new collective consciousness. Yet the basis of this collective consciousness is within you in the depth and breadth of your heart space. This is the foundation and is based in love and begins with love of self.

The only way a collective consciousness of peace, community, harmony, equality can form is if this resides within you. This is why We consistently ask you, What is transpiring in your life? When looking outside at what is transpiring in your world ask the question, Am I responding or reacting to it? Then ask, what is transpiring within me as I see what is happening outside of me in the world? How does this make me feel? Move into your heart to observe if you are isolating or separating yourself from what is transpiring in "your" life and world. Are you opposing it? Are you protesting against it? If so, you are forming separation. This is the macrocosm. Look then at your relationships in the microcosm of your life, ask the same questions and the same could be happening.

What We are asking you to do it look outside of you and at what is transpiring in your world. Ask, does it resonate or doesn't it?

It is time now to move into a detail oriented observation of self. It is important to see if you are reacting to what is transpiring outside of you in your world. Perhaps moving into your defense patterns because when the nervous system is triggered this does happen. So We ask you to first observe this. And if it is, accept with compassion that it is. It is important to keep in mind that as you move through a step by step committed personal process you are raising your awareness and consciousness of self. You are moving to a place of self mastery by raising your awareness and consciousness of self. Self Mastery is the highest aspect within you where you have raised your level of vibration, resonance, awareness and consciousness of self. It is mastering the self. It is not about fixing the self, getting rid of aspects of the self, it is about mastering the self by moving into an introspective, committed process within the self.

As We move you through this process, begin with acceptance and compassion as to what is transpiring within you. Do this by observing you. As you observe you, you can look at yourself and continue to make choices. This is consciousness and awareness. Raising your awareness and consciousness to self.

When you look at what is transpiring outside of you at this most important time and juncture of the incarnational process of the universal plain and your earthly plain, We ask you simply to see if you are reacting to it because your nervous system quite possibly, has been triggered.

As you moved through your month of January and looked at what is transpiring in your worldly plain, observe it now. Observe it to see if you are coming from a place of love or a place of resistance and opposition to it.

Move now into the depth of your heart to that place of love. Collect your energy there. Move into a collective consciousness of your energy in your heart space. Then observe where you are in relation to what is transpiring in your outside world. Ask, Am I in a place of love or resistance?

It is not about resisting what is transpiring outside of you, it is about seeing where you are within it. The new collective consciousness is a consciousness of love, peace, community, harmony, equality and intimacy. It is not about changing what is transpiring outside of you, it is about firmly standing in your truth. This is the truth of love, peace, community, harmony, equality and your specific, personal conscious values of that. Then expressing it to the world.

It is not about reacting to what is transpiring outside of you, it is about responding from the depth and breadth of your heart space in truth, community, harmony and love. As you do this, you begin to form a new collective consciousness. Love is the basis of it and from this place you stand in your truth and the powerfulness of it. It is the powerfulness of self love and self empowerment and that is based in love.

As you form this collective consciousness over a period of time, you begin to raise the resonance and vibration of what is transpiring in the world. As you move into your month of February it is important to move into this place of love. Moving into your heart space in an accelerated process.

What is transpiring now during this period is many are moving through peaks and valleys in life. Moving to high points and low points. Moving through low points in the shadow and moving out of the shadow to bright formations of light. Many are experiencing these peaks and valleys on a daily, moment by moment basis. Moving into the shadow, moving out of the shadow. Moving from the shadow to the light then back into the shadow on a cyclical basis as you look at what is transpiring in the world outside of you.

What is transpiring in your third dimensional realm is a necessary aspect of the growth of your earthly plain, within the universal plain in its divine plan. It is what is needed in order for you to stand in the depth and breadth of your truth. Based upon what is transpiring in your worldly plain many are being asked, What is your truth? So as you move through your month of February continue to ask that question. What is my truth? As I look outside of myself in the third dimensional realm asking, Does this resonate or doesn't it?

Many now are being triggered to express themselves. Your year of 2017 is about expressing the empowerment and powerfulness of you. It is the full expression of the empowerment of you through your truth. What is transpiring now is many are being tested as to where their truth lies through what is transpiring on your earthly plain whether they consciously know it or not.

There is a difference between beliefs and truth. Quite possibly now your belief system is being tested? Old aspects of your belief system in relationship to your truth are being tested. The lightning rod of the energetic aspect of what is transpiring on your earthly plain is energetically triggering many with the divine question, What is your truth? So what is your truth at this time? As you move through your month of February keep that question in mind. What is my truth?

If you are on a path to self mastery it is about feeling your feelings and giving yourself the freedom to feel.

As you move through these unsettling times in your world allow the process of what is transpiring. For the most part your nervous system has been triggered which is divinely perfect. For many, this is waking you up. Feelings are coming to the fore, possibly feelings that you have never experienced before. You are beginning to realize that it is important to express yourself. Have you expressed yourself before this? Your core conscious values are being triggered, love, peace, community, harmony and equality. This is an awakening to certain aspects of you. Quite possibly to meaning, value and purpose and standing in a powerfulness asking the question, How do I serve those who resonate and vibrate as I? What is being triggered is a call to action. The call is, How can I best serve using my talents and gifts? Since I have been triggered I have now found self expression. Standing in your power in the place of love.

Each and every one of you is being triggered and quite possibly it is time to raise your consciousness as to what is being triggered inside of you.

Are you moving into defense when being triggered?

In the divine plan of your universe what is transpiring is perfect. Great shifts and changes are occurring. The year of 2017 will move on an accelerated, intensified pathway of urgency. It is now time for you to open your heart space with this new call to action. Through your month of February you will see great shifts and changes in your life based upon the depth and breadth of your commitment to a personal intensified process within yourself.
