

Archangel Michael Speaks

Channeled by Jeff Fasano

Allowing the Pieces of the Puzzle of Your Life to Fall into Place

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We welcome you as you are moving through compartments of your life and seeing life in this fashion as opposed to looking at the big picture of your life and where you are headed in your soul fragment's divine plan.

Many of you at this time are trying to figure out what life is for you and wondering what the next step is. Your month of February was an in-between period in the three-month transition period that began at the beginning of your year 2019. February was a month of compassion and as you move into your month of March aspects of your life will begin to flourish and come to fruition. Answers to many of your questions will come to you as well.

Many in February felt as if they were in a place of limbo, a place of nothingness as if nothing is happening and may still be feeling that. Perhaps there have been many questions as to what the next step is in your life. Many are moving from a place in the old life into a place in the new life and getting a glimpse of what that is.

What is most important to understand now is it is all about resonance. It is about moving from your mental body of what you think you should be doing, or thought you should have been doing and move into a place of resonance in your heart space to feel your way through this transition period. Gravitating towards what raises your resonance and vibration. Gravitating towards what for you as an individual feels right for you. For many this is new. It is now about trusting this. It is about moving within to trust your intuition. Many are feeling this energy rise within them as if they have the answers yet cannot articulate them. You may not be able to articulate the answers yet you are feeling them.

So as you look at what is transpiring in your life now and what has transpired up to this point in time, see what resonates for you and what doesn't. This is what the transition period is about. It is important to have compassion for where you are. Allowing yourself to be in the not knowing, in the unknown, and with all the questions that seemingly you have no answers for. As you move into your month of March many of your questions will begin to be answered, yet not quite in the way you think they will be.

What will come to you will be a resonance of a knowingness. You will feel your way towards what raises your resonance and vibration. You will feel your way in relationships and towards new relationships. In many ways things will go unsaid. You will no longer hear what you need to do, you will begin to feel what you need to do and who you need to do it with.

In many ways your life is changing. It is shifting and changing towards a greater purpose in this lifetime as you move through and navigate your soul's divine plan. You are shifting from needing to know what is next. This is simply a need that lies in your mental body, to satisfy your nervous system. Looking outside of you for all the answers and the next hit to your nervous system that will satisfy the craving of the addiction of the need to know.

Though it may now seem as if life is moving slowly, it is important to allow yourself to be in the moment of now. Begin to feel what the next step in your soul's divine place is. For many this can begin by looking at what no longer resonates for you. How do you feel about this or that?
How do you feel about doing this or that?

Move into the place of unknowing and allow the doorways to open. For many these doorways are beginning to open. Many are trying to piece together the puzzle of life. The more you try to do this, the more frustrated you may become because you are trying too hard to piece the puzzle together. It is important to simply be in the moment of now and allow the pieces to come together on your pathway based upon resonance and vibration.

For many it is still important at this time to clean, cleanse and clear your pallet. Releasing old relationships. Releasing old dogma perhaps. Releasing old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors. Simply allow yourself to move through this transition period. Be where you are. Allow yourself with compassion to be where you are. If you are confused, frustrated, if you are trying to fit together all the pieces of the puzzle to get it right and know where you are headed, you may find you are in a place of frustration that this is not happening for you right now. You may be in a place of the unknown where you are not quite sure, yet in some ways you are sure. What you may be sure of is what resonates for you but not quite ready to move through this.

As you move into your month of March, many of you will see a clearing. You will gain more clarity. Relationships will come into play. What is most important now is to open your heart space. Many are moving through a shadow period and your heart just may be a bit shut down. You are clearing a pathway within you so you can open your heart space to be clear, cognizant, conscious, and aware of when those doorways open and many of the answers to your questions come.

You are in an energetic period where life may have slowed a bit. Quite possibly you are feeling out of control in the unknowingness. Yet there is a knowingness that change is coming.

Now, simply be, be where you are.

You may feel anxious, as if you are stagnating, as if you are in a place of nothingness. What is transpiring for many now is the mental body is grappling with the heart space. Your mind is grappling with your heart. The voice of the old wounded ego is trying to get you to be where it wants you to be. There is fighting between your mental body and your heart, your mind at times moving to fragments and tangents, thinking what's next? Yet your heart is saying this is, what is, now, this is where you are. Can you accept with compassion that this is happening? You are moving in transition from the need to know in your mental body, to try to control everything into a place in the depth of your heart to simply trust.

