Compassion for What is Transpiring in the World

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving to the depth and breadth of your heart space as you are now moving through a precarious time on your earthly plain. Opening up more deeply to the depth and breadth of your heart space.

What is transpiring in the world outside of you in the third dimensional realm right now is a challenge for those on the pathway to We Consciousness from Me Consciousness. The challenge is, how deeply are you ready to go into the depth and breadth of your heart space? How deeply are you willing to release your attachments to the third dimensional realm? How deeply are you willing to detach from the third dimensional realm and move through your life with love, peace, community, harmony and equality? Something that We have been speaking to you about for quite some time. And We are now reiterating it.

So We ask each and every one of you to move deeper into the depth and breadth of your heart space with compassion. Compassion for what is transpiring in the world and what is transpiring within you. Quite possibly see where you are in reaction to what is transpiring in the world. Perhaps now looking to see where you can respond to others.

The way in which you move to a new aspect of We Consciousness and creating a new collective consciousness is by moving deeper within your heart space.

What is transpiring in the world outside of you in many ways is a challenge or a test to see how deeply you can move into the depth and breadth of your heart space to the depth of love, compassion, equality, and community. Many in the human experience are reacting to what is happening outside of you and defending. Many fighting to be right.

So what is most important as you now move into your month of September is to open up in your heart space to the reality of self. What is your reality of self right now? What is your reality? What is the reality you are having within you in relationship to what is transpiring in the world outside of you? It is a very tumultuous time where you are seeing great divide and many living in the throes in the woundedness of Me Consciousness.

In what is transpiring in the world today you are seeing the wounds of the world. You are seeing the depth of the wounds of the world. You are seeing it in each individual you see outside of you and within your-self as well. Everything that is transpiring outside of you is always asking you to look in the mirror. How is this reflecting back at you? If you are looking at what is transpiring in the world and you are having resistance to it then there is something inside of you that needs to be observed perhaps.

As you move through this pathway of Self Mastery, you are leaving polarity and duality and trying to move into a place of neutrality. This is a place where when you look outside of you, you are in a neutral place. This place resides in the depth and breadth of your heart space. So when you look outside of you with compassion toward what is transpiring in the world, are you neutral or does it still trigger you? If so what is triggering you?

What is being triggered are your feelings. More than likely it is triggering feelings you have suppressed and repressed for many years. It is triggering the wounds of the child. It is triggering your memories of mom and dad. It is triggering your conditioning and programming.

If you look at what is transpiring in the world outside of you, you are having feelings about it. So have your feelings about it. This is why We continually ask you the questions, How does this make you feel? What feelings are surfacing?

What is being triggered in the third dimensional realm right now is feeling your feelings.

Have you moved into your mental body and looked outside of you at the mythical, deified leaders thinking they are going to solve all the problems? Are you still looking outside of you thinking that what is transpiring is reality? This is why We continue to ask you to look at the illusions of the third dimensional realm.

What is happening in the third dimensional realm outside of you is for you. It is for you to cleanse and clean within the depth and breadth of your physical body, your emotional and spiritual body.

Look outside at what is transpiring in the world outside of you and ask, How does this make me feel? Quite possibly feelings are surfacing that you have suppressed and repressed for many lifetimes. It is no longer about a logical conclusion or solution to what is transpiring in the world. What is transpiring in the world is bringing up the deep, dark aspects of the wounds within each and every one of the most glorious souls who inhabit your planet right now.

As you move on the pathway of Self Mastery, it is about moving from polarity and duality to neutrality. A place where you can look at the world outside of you and at others with compassion. Simply saying, this is their pathway, this is within their divine soul plan. Then ask you self, How does this make me feel? Then move within you and have your feelings about it all. And as those feelings surface are you moving into polarity or duality from an other simply because you may not agree with them or their choices? Or, are you in neutrality with compassion for one self. Seeing that you have made choices that may not have served my highest good. And as I see these choices, I am in compassion with myself because I made those choices because they were in my soul plan.

When you look outside of you and see others making choices, those choices are in their soul plan. Quite possibly there is no need for you to react or respond to their choices. But, if those choices trigger you, they are triggering feelings inside of you.

It is about moving from polarity and duality to neutrality. It is most important as you look at the world outside of you is to keep this in mind if you so choose.

We come to you at this wonderful and most glorious time with this reminder, you are sacred. You are sacred in the depth and breadth of your heart space. You are sacred beings energetically bringing forth vibratory aspects of your self to shift and change the resonance and vibration of the world one by one. It is through your beingness that will shift an other and their resonance and vibration.

Yes, you have the words you need to tell others what you know. You have the words you need to tell the masses what you know, what is important and what you feel. This is important yes. But as We have come to you many times it is about shifting into being who you are. In the beingness of your-self moving to an awareness and consciousness of the behaviors of your wounding. Moving within the depth and breadth of your heart space and being aware with compassion for all of this. By doing this you move into a place of grace of beingness through acceptance and compassion. This begins with you. And once you move into a place of acceptance and compassion, you then move into a place of honoring your-self. Then you move into a place of valuing your-self. The caveat to all of this is Love.

So what is transpiring in the world outside of you is test and a challenge to see how deeply you love, honor and value your-self. To see how deeply you can move into a place of neutrality and compassion. See, and now observe what is transpiring in the world outside of you.

When We ask you to look at your attachments to the third dimensional realm and begin to detach from that which no longer resonates for you, you are doing this through observation. Observing your-self reacting and responding to what is transpiring in the world. Observing your-self when you are looking out in the world, even in your relationships with one and other. Observe the feelings that surface. Feel those feelings. Observe your-self repressing and suppressing feelings that surface.

As you move into your month of September, this month is a month of challenge. That challenge is how deeply you can move into the depth and breadth of your heart space to a level of compassion for your self. So you then can look outside of you and have compassion for what others are moving through in their soul's divine plan in their human incarnation in the third dimensional realm.
