

Archangel Michael Speaks

Channeled by Jeff Fasano

A Message for April 2022

The Beginning of Transition and Transformation

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are now moving into new parameters in your life and new aspects of your life, core aspects of your life. Opening up to a new greatness and wonderfulness of the self. In many ways what is transpiring in the world outside of you is a mirror for what is transpiring within you.

What is transpiring with each and every one of you as you move into your month of April is a transition, a transformation. As you begin your second three months of your year of 2022 it begins a transformation period and a transition period, a transition from the old to the new. Quite possibly you may find yourself moving from the new aspects of your self and reminded of old aspects of your self that need to be nurtured and healed. What is transpiring outside of you in personal situations in your life are now reflecting that back to you moving you into honoring, valuing and loving your self more deeply. Seeing as well the connections in the world outside of you in your personal life. Those who fully know, honor, love and value the true aspects of you and essence of you in the depth of your soul space and reconnecting with them as a reminder of who you truly are. If in fact that is what you need.

In many ways, what is transpiring in the world outside of you is directly reflecting what is related to your life is now and is a wake up call in many ways. A wake up call to the true essence of who you are, the true essence of your being so now you can fully transition into the true essence of your being irregardless of what is transpiring in the world outside of you. Taking full responsibility for your self so others can take full responsibility for themselves.

As you move into your month of April you are moving into a transition period and a period of transformation. The next three months of 2022 will be a period of transformation for each and every one of you and for the world as well. You will see this reflected in the world outside of you and see the transformation of many. Transformation on your worldly stage. Transformation of those individuals outside of you who are being triggered and objectified so they now can move into the depth and breadth of their heart space to find out and move into the depth and breadth of who they truly are in the full beingness of self.

What each and every one of you may be finding in your month of April are situations in your life that will begin to trigger the depth and breadth of your soul space, your core, to release the old belief system that you had of who you are so you can move to a new level of the beingness of the self. This is what in many ways you are seeing reflected outside of your self in situations in your life that may be coming up to challenge you at the moment.

In many ways through your month of April you will find situations in your life challenging you to the core of your being. Challenging you in relation as to who you truly are. You can see these challenges as way to connect with others who can mirror back to you who you truly are within you. It is most important as you move into your month of April to be aware and cognizant of what is transpiring with your relationships with others and how those relations quite possibly are triggering and activating you and realize that this is not your true self of who you are. It is simply a challenge.

What you will see in your month of April are a series of challenges perhaps from the outside world that directly reflects on you. It is about being with these challenges and connecting with those who can help you process these challenges and help you move through them when you hit blind spots. You then will see the worldly stage of what is transpiring in the third dimension right now. The many challenges, the stages of upheaval in the world that needs to transpire so you can move into a new collective consciousness that we have been speaking to you about for some time now.

Your month of April is a month of transition and transformation. It begins with transition. What you might find at the beginning of the month are challenging aspects in the world outside of you that are challenging within you. This will begin the transition then as you move through your month of April into your month of May then into June you will see the transformation begin. You will also quite possibly see releasing those who no longer serve your highest good. Releasing situations that no longer serve your highest good. Releasing the extraneous expenditure of energy on what no longer serves your highest good. In many ways trying to get them or the situation to manifest so it serves your highest good. You will see where you are expending that inordinate amount of energy of what is unavailable to become available.

It is now about moving and solidifying the soul self. Solidifying the depth and breadth of your heart space. Solidifying you as you move into the next three months of your year of 2022. It is as we have said to you many times, living your life from the soul perspective where what is transpiring outside of your self in your own life and in the world in the macrocosm is so in its soul plan. It is about you taking what is transpiring in the world outside of you, seeing how it is affecting you and determining what is no longer relevant and how you can learn from what is transpiring.

As you move into your month of April it is a month of transition. You will see at the beginning of your month certain challenges that will come up for you so you can move within and see how those challenges affect you so you can move into a greater growth period and a growth spurt. Then as you move through your month of April and move through this transition process and begin the transformational process that will continue through your month of May and into June. So you can fully grow into the full beingness of who you truly are and also differentiate from what is transpiring in the world outside of you and what is transpiring in your soul self within you.

As you move through this period of time it is most important to be aware that what is transpiring in the world outside of you with specific individuals quite possibly has nothing to do with you. It is about moving within to see where you can take greater responsibility for your self, your actions, your words and move along in life. Perhaps those who are challenging you or the situations that are challenging you through your month of April in many ways has nothing to do with you. But what it has to do with is how it is affecting you, what it is triggering and activating inside of you and process that to move into the full beingness of who you are.

In many ways the challenges that you will be facing, if in fact you are facing challenges, are designed in your soul plan for you to move into a greater knowingness of who you are. The challenges that will be triggering you, activate you perhaps, are a way that your soul divine plan is holding up a mirror to you to move into the depth and breadth of your soul space and the full essence of your beingness. It is a challenge to know who you are in the essence of your self. Then taking responsibility for you as you move through this. It is another step moving from the wounded child into the adult as you make this transition and transformation in your month of April and the months that follow.