A Message for June 2022

A Month of Transformation

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into new parameters in your life, moving through the process of life, moving through the feelings of life and aspects of your life you have never moved through before. This is because you are opening up the depth and breadth of your heart space as you move into your month of June, the final month of this process or project that you have been moving through in the last three months.

You are now moving through the manifestation of what you have intended, envisioned for your-self in your life and opening up to the fullness of self, the grandness of self and the greatness of self. You are now navigating through and into the second half of your year of 2022 and moving into manifestation.

It is not so much manifestation outside of your-self, it is the manifestation of a greater depth of self, a greater depth of honoring and valuing your-self. You have moved through aspects of the old self, aspects of the old you and seeing your old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors. You have moved into them and opened to them to see how they have not served you as you have moved through your many lifetimes and the lifetime in this third dimensional realm that you incarnated in in the human form.

So as you now move into your month of June you now begin a manifestation period, a manifestation of a greater sense of self and closing doors as well. In many ways your month of June is about closing doors to the old, the old self, the old behaviors so you can move into a greater fruition of self. A greater fullness of self, greater grandness and powerfulness of self where you are moving into a greater adult self where you are no longer allowing the wounded child to run your life. You are now differentiating in a greater way between the adult self in the here and now and the wounded child that is constantly beckoning to run your life. Your old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors contain this. Your old behaviors perpetrate the old and allow your-self to remain in a place of victimhood perhaps. The old place of scarcity, struggling to survive life.

So now you are moving into the adult self, and moving into manifestation as you moved through the transition period in your last month of May. Your month of June is a month of closing doors. Closing doors to your old behaviors, to old relationships. It is important to see those old relationships because if you have moved into a greater depth of loving, honoring and valuing you, you are now seeing how these relationships no longer serve or champion your highest good. You now can begin to release the old and close the doors to the old and lock them and move into the manifestation of the new self. To see how this will blossom and create new aspects of your life as you move into your month of July and towards the end of your year of 2022.

It is most important that as the doors close to the old in the month of June to continually see the old. Remain open to raise your consciousness and awareness to the old behaviors that you may perpetrate that hold the old in place.

We come to you with this information at this most important time because you are coming to the midpoint of your year of 2022 and moving towards the end of it as time moves rapidly in your third dimension.

The questions We have for you are:

What are you manifesting in your life?

What is most important for you to manifest in your life as you move forward in various aspects of your life?

What is most important for you to manifest as you move into the second half of your year as you move into it as the new you conscious and aware of the new aspects of your-self?

What blind spots have you moved through?

What blind spots may you still be in?

What is most important as you move through your year is to continue to create new collective consciousness. Continue to create a new collective of unity, peace, harmony, equality as you move through your year of 2022. This is because there will be aspects of the old that will come in play in the third dimensional realm outside of you as you move through the year. You will see it in your various political systems, governmental systems and corporate systems where they will continually try to hold the old in place.

As you have moved through these last three months, April, May and now into June, it is important to look outside of your-self, look at what has transpired in the corporate, governmental and political systems and continue to ask, what resonates for me now and what doesn't?

As you have moved through these three months of transition and transformation, transforming into the new self, where the old behaviors are no longer needed to sustain the connection to the wounds of life, you can now see the old and know that it was all appropriate to move you to where you are now. It is not important to lament over the old any longer. Everything that has transpired in your life has been perfect up until this moment in time according to your soul's divine plan.

So as you move into your month of June, it is most important to be in the moment of the here and now. Your mental body may drift into then old and you may perpetrate old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors. But if you have undertaken the project that We laid out for you from your month of April into May and now June, you have raised your awareness and consciousness to the self. And We have continually asked you to move into a new collective of like-minded souls.

So as you move through this month of June and may drift back into old behaviors and not quite sure what is going on, We have urged you to connect with those liked-minded individuals who can help you, guide you, provide support as you move through a blind spot or through a darkness because you might and probably will experience in this month of June and beyond as you move through the transformation process. You will move through periods of the shadow in your month of June and move into the light in your month of July.

You will have these periods of time and why We urge you to create a new collective consciousness in your soul family so you can open your heart space and move to a new sense of intimacy with an other.

“I am feeling this.”

“This is what is transpiring in my life now.”

“I may be in a blind spot.”

“Can you assist, support and guide me through this?”

Thus, opening your heart space to allow and receive love.

Through this month of June, We ask each and every one of you, How open is your heart space to receive love? How open is it to receive love in kindness, in gratitude, from others? This is what each and every one of you say you want and part of what you would like to manifest. Intimate relationships on a heart based level with others.

So as you move through this transformation process remind your-self from time to time to open your heart space to have what is coming to you a place to land. For many have guarded your heart space and thus denying what is coming to you from outside of you from other like-minded individuals a place to land. Allow LOVE to land in your heart space. We ask you as you move through the month of June to be aware and conscious of this.

Each and every one of you have what you say you want regarding intimate relationships. But have you opened up a space in your physical beingness and in your heart space for love to land? Do you have room in your life for love to land? Or are you continually holding it at arms-length? Are you creating old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that keep it at bay? And thus continually yearn after it and wonder why?

So as you move through your month of June We ask you to open your heart space as you transform into the new. Ask your-self, why has my heart space been shut down to love? This what is each and every one of you is seeking in life, to love and be loved. It is now time to do this in equal balance. Where are you loving others outside of you? Where are you projecting love outside of you? Or, are you continually holding it at bay through your old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that sustain the wounds of the child? Sustaining the conditioning from mom and dad.

This three-month period that began in your month of April through May and into June has provided you the resources and tools to begin to fully let go of the conditioning of mom and dad and the wounded child. Yet it is important to allow that wounded child to have its feelings. Have your feelings in your month of June. Allow this month to be a month of play if need be.

As you move through the transformation period in your month of June, it is most important to look outside of you as a barometer, as a test. To see how far you have grown inside of your-self to see what now resonates and doesn't resonate with what is transpiring in the world in your corporate, governmental and political systems. What resonates now for you? What doesn't resonate now for you?

Dear Ones, you are a wonderful being of light now inhabiting your third dimensional realm. Allow that light to shine upon the world outside of you so you can transform those as you have transformed your-self.
