A Message for October 2022

A Month of Experience

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving through new parameters in your life and aspects of your life as you open up to the depth and breadth of your heart space. Opening up to the grandness, greatness and wonderfulness of self. You are now moving into the depth of the soul perspective. You are moving into the powerfulness of self, the adult self in the soul perspective as you move through experiences in your life. As the experiences you are moving through affect you, you are opening you up to a greater depth of soul perspective.

As you move into your month of October and the beginning of the last three months of your year of 2022, what is transpiring is you moving into experiences in your life that affect you deeply that open up wounding, that begin to heal wounding then move you to a greater place of adulthood. As you move through these experiences in your life they move you to a greater depth of soul perspective. Looking at life from a soul perspective as opposed to just focusing on the experience of what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm.

What We are here to talk to you about, is your month of October is a month of experience. Experiencing yourself within yourself, within the third dimensional realm. As we have said to you before, looking at the third dimensional realm at what resonates and what doesn't. As you move through your month of October you will move to a greater depth of what resonates and what doesn't.

What is most important in this month is to pay attention to the experiences you are having in your life right now, the experiences that you are moving through and affecting you as you move deeper into the soul space, deeper within continuing the personal process. Processing these experiences whether they bring you a great amount of joy or opening up great depths of wounding. All of these experiences are allowing you to move into a great soul perspective of life which is the way you intend to live life as you move through your soul plan. Keeping in mind that what transpires in your life is based upon that soul plan. Thus, everything is perfect. Everything that is transpiring in your life is perfect in relationship to the soul plan. When you look at it this way you will see that you're living your life from the soul perspective. As opposed to the linear effects of the third dimensional realm.

So We ask each and every one of you as you move into your month of October to look at your experiences. What is transpiring in your life? What is surfacing within you? Where are you triggered? Where are you activated? These experiences are bringing up old memories perhaps, old wounding that needs to heal. Also moving through experiences where you are having a great amount of joy, a great amount of resonance with others. Also look at relationships to see if these relationships are triggering and activating you. The seeing the relationships that are the protagonist where you are enjoying the company of others. Look now at all of these experiences and move within the depth and breadth of your heart space a see how they are affecting you. Knowing all the while that they are experiences that you are choosing to have are all based on your soul plan. They are perfect, it is perfect. Your life is perfect as it is based upon your soul plan. Thus having the soul experience.

What is most important is to delineate between the linear third dimensional realm experiences you are having thinking that this is the be all and end all. Or you can look at the third dimensional experiences you are having as learning tools, as growing tools, tools laid out before you in your soul plan. You then can utilize these tools and move through these experiences whether they be joyful or at a lower vibration bringing up old wounding. Old experiences, old memories that are on your pathway to now heal because that is the agreement that you made.

The most important thing to understand are the agreements you made before you came into this human incarnation. The agreement that you made with mom and dad and all the relationships you are having outside of you. All of the agreements you have made in order to move on your soul journey in this third dimensional realm.

It is most important to keep in mind that you are on a soul journey in the soul plan. Each and every experience you have and how that experience affects you is relating to you to broaden your soul's perspective. To look at it from the adult point of view, discerning between the adult perspective and the perspective of the wounded child. Then reparenting that wounded child and moving into the greatness and wonderfulness of self.

When you look at the experiences you are having, experiences that have been created in your soul plan for you to learn and grow and experience and affect you. Utilizing these experiences in order to grow in the depth and breadth of your heart space. To bring in unison those wounded children within you to move as one as you reparent them as the adult in the moment of now. It is about living in the here and now in your month of October. Ask, Where am I now? This brings the perspective back to the adult space where you can allow the memories and the wounds of the wounded child surface then know you are in the adult place right now and also know that these are the experiences of the wounded child. Then open your heart space to that wounded child and nurture that child based upon the experiences you are having now as the adult.

As you move into the month of October we ask you to pay attention to the experiences you are having in your life now. Whether they be joyous experiences with others or experiences where your wounding is surfacing and memories are being triggered to heal. Ask then, how are these experiences affecting me? These are experiences that you are having in the linear third dimensional realm. They are experiences that can begin to enhance your soul perspective, living from a soul perspective and know that all these experiences are based upon your soul plan.

As you move into your month of October pay attention to your experiences. What are the experiences you are having and are you allowing these experiences to fully affect you in the heart space. Are you allowing these experiences to affect you in the heart space or are you constantly thinking about the experience, trying to control the experience? What am I learning from the experience? Am I allowing the experience to affect me?

It is a step by step process. As you experience something, many move into the mental body and try to think about the experience as opposed to allowing the experience to affect you. We ask you to begin this process if you so choose. When you experience something in the third dimensional realm allow it to affect you. Allow the feelings to surface. Ask how does that make me feel in this experience? Or am I thinking about the next thing to do? Thinking about trying to control this experience. Am I allowing the energy of the experience to wash over me and move through me? Thus having the experience in the moment of now. I am moving into the moment of now having the experience and allowing it to affect me in that moment. Allowing you to be in the moment of now in your heart space, in your soul space. It is then you will begin to experience the soul perspective.

When you allow yourself to have the experience you allow the energy to move and be within you. Allowing yourself to have the experience of whatever you are experiencing in the third dimensional realm moving in your heart space allows the energy to move within you then you are having the soul experience in that moment.

We come to you at this wonderful and most glorious time as you move into your month of October.
