A Message for December 2022

Are You Still Defending and Protecting?

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into new parameters in your life and uncovering aspects of your life that have remained dormant for quite some time. And moving into the depth and breadth of those aspects that have been dormant for quite some time, all the aspects of your life that you have been suppressing and repressing. As you move into your month of December and the end of your year of 2022, many are moving within and uncovering and recovering aspects of themselves. Moving into the depth of wounding. Many are moving through a process where there is a great upheaval in their systems, their physical, emotional, mental and spiritual systems. Most of this is coming to the fore now to be released so you can move out into life and live your passion and purpose. Also seeing where you have been stagnant life, opening up to the grandness and greatness of life as opposed to looking at the doom and gloom in life or what could happen to me if I do this in my life. Looking perhaps at the drudgery of life. What could happen to me if I go out into this aspect of the world? What might happen to me if that happens?

What is transpiring for many now is their greatest fears are approaching the surface of their physical, mental, emotional and spiritual being. And now they are being asked to deal with it.

As you move into December it is an ending of sorts but a beginning as well. What is ending is coming to the surface, the old ways of thinking, being and doing or not doing. What is transpiring for many are endings that will move into new beginnings in your month of January in your year of 2023.

You are now coming to the end of your year of 2022 and the endings of aspects of your life. What are those aspects of your life that are perpetuating? What are your greatest fears in your life that may be manifesting within you, asking you to deal with those fears. What is your greatest fear in life? What are the feelings that surface beneath those fears because that is what you are avoiding? You are avoiding the feelings of the fears.

The question We have for you is, what are you frightened of? What could happen if you venture out in the world bringing the energetic being that you are to the world? What will happen to you? What will happen to you if you venture into a new relationship? What will happen to you if you open up your heart space to express the beingness of who you are?

Therein lies the greatest fear, the fear of needing to control everything outside of you. What would happen if I walked through that doorway that is opening for me? What would happen if I see that opportunity and move to seize it? What would happen to me? As opposed to opening the doorway to your heart space and as the doorway on the pathway outside of you opens, you walk through it fully embodying the beingness of who you are and now encounter the opportunity? What will happen to me?

What is happening to you now is exactly what you are frightened of happening. What is happening right now for many is exactly what you are frightened of happening to you. Though it is happening for you to grow in the depth and breadth of your heart space.

As you move into your month of December, the question we have for you is, what is your biggest fear in your life? What are you most frightened of in your life as you open your heart space? As your heart space deepens, you deepen to love, honor and value you. As you move and venture and negotiate what is happening in your third dimensional realm outside of you, We have guided you to reveal many aspects of you and your life so you now can open your heart and venture through the doorways and pathways of opportunity in life that are before you.

Your month of December in many ways is about ending those old habits, rituals and behaviors.

What is your biggest fear?
What do you fear the most?
What are you protecting yourself from?
What are you defending yourself from?

What is transpiring for many is their defense is breaking down. The defense that is defending outside of you is breaking down. You are being shown aspects of this in your life that you have defended against or you think you need to defend against and protect yourself. Aspects of your life of your life are coming up, situations in your life are coming up that is showing you aspects of defense. I need to defend myself, I need to protect myself against what is happening in the world outside of me. As opposed to moving and being who you are in life.

Your greatest fears are surfacing now. What are those fears? What are the fears surfacing in your life right now that you always said I need to protect myself from and I need to defend myself now? Are you always in a place of needing to defend yourself to protect yourself from whatever is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you? And why we ask you, what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you that you think you need to protect yourself from and defend yourself against it? Defend yourself against what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you. Thus living a life of defense and protection. Thus keeping you at arms length of what is transpiring in the world outside of you, quite possibly a new relationship. I must protect myself. I must hold the defense in place by protecting myself. As opposed to opening your heart space into the full beingness of who you are knowing that you no longer need to defend or protect yourself from anything outside of you.

You are moving through new depth of loving, honoring and valuing who you are.

We would like you now to move into the depth of your heart space and feel the words of defending and protecting. Low vibrational energies surround those words, those actions, those thoughts. How does it make you feel when you think you need to defend and protect yourself and remain in the defense of the old? This is what you are protecting and defending, the old. The old wounding, the old aspects of life.

Now We ask you to move into the depth and breadth of your heart space and open your heart into the full beingness of who you are. See those doorways opening for you outside of you. How does this make you feel? Are you defending and protecting? Or are you opening your heart space to move out into the world being the radiant white light of who you are and shedding that upon the world which allows you to contain your own energy. And bring that energy out into the world. Defending and protecting or being the radiant white light of energy out into the world? The energies are different now.

We ask you as you move into your month of December, what are your greatest fears in your life? See if you are protecting and defending and are you now ready to bring that to an end? Or simply acknowledge those old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors and thought patterns that lie in your mental body, the conditioning and programming that you need to protect myself against what is happening in the third dimensional realm.

Or, as I am here in the incarnation in the human form that I chose to be in, discovering my purpose in this lifetime which is to love and be love, how can I now open my heart space and allow that to radiate upon the third dimensional realm? There is a difference.

As you move to the end of your year of 2022, look at your fears. Look at where you are protecting and defending. What are you protecting yourself from? Love? Or are you protecting yourself from what may happen to you if you venture outside of yourself? This could happen, so I need to protect myself from what could happen. Or can you look at the realm of possibility and bring in the wonder child. Open your heart space and look at the possibilities of life that you venture into that may raise your resonance and vibration in the balance of giving and receiving in life. Or do you need to protect and defend yourself from that?
