A Message for 2023

Emerging into the Greatness of Who you Are

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you move into your new year of 2023 and moving into your month of January, opening up to the grand parameters of your life. What We mean by this is you are opening up to the grandness, greatness and wonderfulness of self. It is time to move out into the world being who you are. We have come to you many times before speaking about moving from doing to being and we brought you through all the parameters of doing and being. Moving into the depth and breadth of the gloriousness of the self.

Your year of 2023 is about emerging out into the world, emerging into the grandness, greatness and wonderfulness of self. Bringing yourself out to the world in the full beingness of self. It is about opening your heart space as well to give and receive love. For many opening their heart space to receive love and being in the presence of love as you move into your month of January and into 2023.

Your year of 2023 will be a great year of giving. Giving to the world who you are and your talents and gifts, opening up your heart to receive the love that is coming to you. As you emerge from the end of your year of 2022 into your month of January it is about emerging from the shadow of the self. Releasing the shadow of the self and opening up to the brightness of self, the golden white light in the depth and breadth of your heart space. Opening up to the Christ Consciousness within you to begin to shed that light out into the world along your pathway. Allow yourself to now illuminate the world with you and stand in your powerfulness, your greatness. As you move into your month of January you move into a preparation period of this.

Your year of 2022 for many was a great year of releasing. Releasing the old habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that held you in a place of inadequateness. A place of not being in the gloriousness of the self. A place of inadequacy where you were holding yourself hostage in a place of smallness. You are now moving into your greatness.

The reason why you held yourself in those places is because of the depth of the wounding, the depth of the feelings beneath the wounding. Many in the last half of your year of 2022 dove into the wounding and into the depth and breadth of your heart space. You are now allowing yourself to be with that as you go through the end of your year of 2022 and beginning to emerge into your year of 2023 in your month of January.

Your month of January will be a month of preparation, preparing yourself to fully emerge. It is not as if you are going to burst onto the scene as it were, it will take time as this is a process. It is a process of emerging. Your month of January will be a process of emerging out into the world being who you are. For many it will be as if you are testing the waters, moving from the shallow end of the pool to the deep end. Many will begin in the end of the pool that is shallow, testing the waters of the beingness of self.

We ask you as you move into your month of January to test yourself. See where you may be still holding on to old wounding and the wounding of the inner child that is still running your life. This is what many are emerging from. Emerging from the wounded child leading your life through those wounds. Those feelings of not good enough, not perfect enough, not worthy enough. Not worthy enough to be loved. Not worthy enough to give love.

You are now moving from that to show the world that you are relevant simply because you are you.

Your year of 2023 will be a year of emerging from the cocoon of the wounds of the child. Moving out into the world showing the world that you are relevant by simply being who you are. You are loved for who you are. In that process more talents and gifts will emerge from this that you can now give to the world coming from a place of peace, community, harmony, equality and love.

Your year of 2023 will be an emergence of a new soul family or a solidification of the soul family. Releasing what no longer serves you and who no longer serves you. As you move through your month of January you will be deducing this. We ask you to see who no longer serves your highest good. Where there is no longer a balance of giving and receiving. Who supports you in your life? Who champions your highest good? And are you doing the same in relationships? If you can see this you can see the fortitude of relationships, the gravitas of relationships and the foundation of these relationships because what you will be seeing is meaning, value and purpose of these relationships. Just as you are seeing the meaning, value and purpose of who you are. Not what you are doing but who you are being. What you will be doing is expressing your beingness. You will no longer be doing to prove that you are lovable, fantastic, and great. What you will be doing is the full expression of the beingness of who you are. Your doing in 2023 will be an expression of who you are being.

For many your month of January will be a slow emergence into this, as if you are testing the waters of your beingness. We suggest you move at a slower pace through your month of January. You might feel that your nervous system is at a high crescendo. I am excited, I am going to move out into the world being who I am. This is all well and wonderful. Feel this. Feel those feelings. Feel that resonance and vibration raise. What We suggest is to take it at a slower pace. A peaceful place. Walking through the doorway, not bursting on the scene showing everyone who I am. Simply be, because it is not about that burst of energy. It is not about looking at the world and saying see me, this is who I am. It is about being who you are in a process of peace, community, harmony and equality. Simply allowing yourself to stride gracefully on the pathway of life as you move through your year of 2023.

In the overview, your year of 2023 for many will be a quest of being who they are. You will move through periods of peaks and valleys throughout your year. But at most, it will be about the full beingness of who you are and living that beingness. Releasing trying to control the third dimensional realm outside of you. Releasing looking at the world as doom and gloom. Beginning to celebrate that you have chosen to be in this incarnation alive through the beingness of who you are. It is time to move into this place of being, being who you are.

In your month of January allow the doors to open and move gracefully through them to the opportunities that will present themselves to you. Allow them to be seen if you are in a state of consciousness and awareness to see these opportunities that are before you.

We suggest you rid yourself of what no longer serves your highest good. Rid yourself of what lowers your resonance and vibration. Or, simply observe what lowers your resonance and vibration and why you are in those relationships. If in fact you are in those relationships that lower your resonance and vibration and you are feeding those relationships by being in them you are still stuck in the old. The new is about feeding the relationships that serve you and raise your resonance and vibration. Feed that relationship with you by surrounding yourself with those who champion your highest good as you champion theirs. It is about moving in a direction in life that is fulfilling where there is a balance of giving and receiving. Moving quite possibly into new relationships that will fortify this.

The year of 2023 is also a year of relationships. Creating new relationships. Creating a brand new relationship that you are having with yourself. Many of you moved through the year of 2022 and released that which no longer served you. Healed the wounding, raised your resonance and vibration and your consciousness to that wounding and seeing how that wounding has been running your life, has been holding you in a place of smallness.

It is now time to open your heart space and allow the radiatory white light, the Christ Consciousness to illuminate your pathway out in the world. Illuminate the world with yourself.

You will move through segments in your year of 2023 where duality will rear its ugly head, duality in the third dimensional realm. This might be a sign for you to see if duality still resides in your life. Duality within you. In many ways the third dimensional realm outside of you will continue to be what it is. We have asked you many times before to ask yourself this question, Is what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of me dictating the way I live my life? It is about your attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you. Your year of 2023 will begin to allow you to see more deeply those attachments. Seeing if what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you is dictating how you live your life. Seeing what is transpiring in the world outside of you and asking does this resonate for me or doesn't it?

You are on a pathway, a high vibrational, multi-dimensional pathway. If you raise your resonance and vibration you can far surpass the low vibrational resonance of the third dimensional realm. Where what is transpiring in the world simply resonates or doesn't for you. You can joyfully, powerfully walk on the pathway into the beingness of the self irregardless of what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you. It all depends on how much power you give it. Ask yourself, is what is transpiring in the world outside of me affecting my life right now? Or is it hitting the conditioning of the wounded child? The fear the wounded child has where they need mom and dad to still keep them alive and run their life.

Look outside of yourself into the third dimensional realm as you meander on your pathway gracefully being who you are. See how much of what is transpiring in the world is affecting you. What are you creating in your life right now to learn that certain relationships are no longer needed in your life to mirror back to you your wounding. It is time to see in your life what is mirroring back to you your greatness, your wonderfulness, your powerfulness.

The mirror outside of you is not simply mirroring back to me what I need to heal, what I need to work on. Yes, that will transpire. It is now time if you so choose to see what is transpiring in your relationships outside of you of your creation that is mirroring back to you your greatness, powerfulness and your wonderfulness. Meanwhile looking at those relationships that are fulfilling all of this and if you are paying attention to that. What is happening in your world outside of you that is mirroring back to you how much you are loved, how worthy you are of love? This is why throughout your year of 2022 We continually asked you to open your heart space.

If you are looking at these relationships, seeing them and still asking, what do I need to work on within me in these relationships and this is your main focus, let that be so. What We are suggesting to you now is to look at what is transpiring in the world outside of you at whatever you have created, and see if that is mirroring back to you your powerfulness, greatness, your wonderfulness and you are worthy to be loved for simply being you.

It is most important as you move into your year of 2023 to now see all of this. Your year of 2023 is a year of emerging into the greatness of who you are.
