A Message for April 2024

Taking Inventory to Clear and Cleanse

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are opening up to the grandness and greatness of self and new parameters in your life as you move from your month of March to your month of April. Opening up to new parameters in your life, new tributaries, and new pathways as you are cleaning and cleansing the physical body. This is transpiring for many. You are moving through a period of clear and cleansing, Cleansing the body, the mind, the soul and cleansing the emotional body. In many ways you are moving through a period of nothingness or you feel as if nothing is transpiring in your life. This is because you are moving through this period of not so much darkness but a slow period in your life. It is a reconfiguration.

When We came to you the last time We said to you at around the 15th of your month of March new energies would be moving into your earthly plain and this has transpired. Many have felt the effects of these energies. The effects of the energies opening up your soul space bringing up new aspects of yourself and moving into an aspect of the physical body that needs to be cleared and cleansed.

An aspect of what transpired when those energies entered your earthly plain and many felt the repercussions of them, the effects of the energies is now a cleaning and cleansing period. This is because you are moving out of the old. Deep and dense aspects of the old that may not be in your relative consciousness. Now what is transpiring is you are opening up to those old and dark aspects of yourself and allowing them to move through your physical body and out of the physical body. Many are experiencing dis-ease and opening up to the depth of these wounds, the old habits, patterns and rituals. Moving through what you would call inertia.

In many ways the physical and emotional body can cleanse itself from the old. Old aspects that no longer serve you. Many are moving through a reconfiguration of the physical body, the mental body and the emotional body. Many are now taking stock and looking at your relationships in the world. The relationships you are having with those outside of yourself. Looking at your relationship to the world outside of you. We have always asked you to look at the balance of giving and receiving.

What has transpired in your month of March when these energies opened through new portals and vortexes on your earthly plain that are remaining open and must remain open because they are assisting in the cleaning and cleansing process that many are moving through.

We have asked you many times before to look at where there is a balance of giving and receiving in relationships and many are now beginning to understand this. Understanding the balance of giving and receiving in relationships where honoring and valuing yourself and your talents, gifts and abilities is concerned.

What is transpiring as you move into your month of April is a cleaning and cleansing period and a time of inertia or nothingness. Many are moving through this nothingness where nothing is transpiring significantly in the third dimension outside of them and nothing is transpiring within themselves. Many are wondering what is transpiring within them and We are here now to bring you this message telling you that what is transpiring is a cleaning and cleansing. A moving of the inventory of the emotional system, the physical system and the mental system.

What you are doing in your month of April is taking inventory. Inventory as to where you are with your place in the world and what is transpiring in the world. Many are asking, What is the next step on my pathway in life? Many are not sure what that next step is. You are in a moment of inertia and not quite sure what the next steps are in this cleaning and cleansing process.

Many are taking inventory as to what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm around of them and taking inventory with relationships. Looking at relationships. As you move through this part of your month of April thought the end of April it is in many ways a perfect time to look at these relationships as you are moving through this place of inertia where you can analyze the relationships. Does this relationship serve my highest good? Does this relationship champion my highest good? Is there a balance of giving and receiving? Then behind this look at your wounding and your old habits, patterns and rituals as to why you remain in these specific relationships. Quite possibly to continue to prove yourself.

As We come to you now as you move into your month of April there is no need to prove yourself to anyone any longer. You are who you are. You have moved through the process to move into the beingness of self. Look right now at what is transpiring in your month of April. There is less doing. You are moving through aspects of your life where there is no longer a need to do anything. Simply just be where you are and who you are in the process on your pathway of ascension. This pathway on your journey through life.

We come to you at this wonderful and most glorious time with this message of understanding where you are. Understanding what is transpiring in your life right now and what is transpiring in your month of April as you move forward through it.

As you move to the end of your month of April you will begin to see a transfiguration of who you are. A transformation of who you are. Many will move into a more solidified state of knowing who they are. What is transpiring now is you are beginning to release, as you move through this month of inventory, your excess baggage. Your excess baggage emotionally, physically, and mentally. You are also releasing the excess baggage outside of yourself in the third dimensional realm. Looking at what is transpiring in the world and seeing how that is affecting you and how it is making you feel.

You are now moving into your month of April through a period of taking inventory in your life. What serves my highest good? Whose highest good am I serving? And is there a balance of giving and receiving in that relationship?

You are moving through a cleaning and cleansing process that is moving in juxtaposition with the inventory that you are taking. As you take inventory you see what resonates and what no longer resonates and realizing that this needs to go, and I must end this relationship or shift this relationship. I am taking inventory in my life. And as you take inventory in your life and see what no longer serves your highest good, you begin to clean and cleanse that and release that. And this is what is transpiring in your month of April and will continue to transpire throughout your month of April.

Then you will see as you move through your month of April into your month of May a new solidified sense of who you are.
