A Message for June 2024

New Discovery and New Beginnings

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into new parameters, new aspects of your life as you now move into your month of June of your year of 2024. The beginning of the second half of your year, a month of new beginnings. Once again, you are transitioning out of your month of May and making a new transition into your month of June that begins the second half of your year 2024. And opening new doors to the new life, the new you as you have moved through the inventory of the self, your relationships outside of you, your relationship with the third dimensional realm outside of you, looking at all that no longer raises your resonance and vibration and at what raises it. Quite possibly now emptying out what no longer serves you and releasing what you are ready to release and let go of in this evolutionary process you are moving through in a personal process in your soul divine plan.

As you move into June what you will be transitioning into will be a new aspect of your soul plan. Many may not know what that is and in many respects it is not important to know because you will slowly transition into it in your month of June. And begin to feel the newness of that aspect of your soul plan. In many ways it is releasing about trying to control everything to perfect the new part of your plan as opposed to allowing that new part of your plan to organically and naturally take shape and take form. You are moving into a greater depth of being who you are, a greater depth of honoring and valuing and loving yourself. A greater depth of you.

Once again, we harken back to doing versus being.

As you move through the month of June you will now pick and choose judiciously what you will be doing that satisfies your highest resonance, your highest good. You will be choosing the relationships that satisfies your highest good and you in the depth and breadth of honoring, valuing and loving you. And where there is a balance of giving and receiving.

The most important thing to take note of as you move into your month of June is, where is the balance of giving and receiving in your life. Each and every one of you in your month of June can now detect and define what relationships satisfy the balance of giving and receiving. What are you doing in your life where there is a balance of giving and receiving? And is there a balance of giving and receiving within you? Are you loving honoring and valuing yourself to allow yourself to receive love?

As you move into your month of June, a month of beginning again for many, beginning a new for many as you ease into organically and naturally the next aspect of your soul divine plan, where can you open your heart more deeply to receive love? We have spoken about this to you many times before and We have asked this question many times before. As you move into the month of June opening your heart space, We ask you to pay close attention to where you are receiving love and opening your heart space to receive love.

Many give love under the guise of giving to get. Look at where you are giving to get, perhaps an old habit, pattern, ritual and behavior. Are you giving freely from your heart space to those with whom you resonate, with whom you are having a relationship where there is a balance of giving and receiving. Where each wonderful and most glorious soul is being a champion for each other's highest good.

In many ways you are moving into a time in your month of June, a more peaceful time, a more energetically peaceful time for each and every one of you. As you are now moving more into the flow of life.

Your month of April and your month of May were months where much energy was flowing, an inordinate amount of energy. Your month of April was about taking inventory, seeing what no longer serves you, seeing what you need to release, opening those parameters within you to release what no longer serves you and taking note of that inventory. Then when your month of May moved through it was a month of releasing the old that no longer served you. In many ways in your months of April and May you were expending an inordinate amount of energy doing this. Taking inventory, releasing, mourning the old. Many right now are still mourning the old. Many wonderful and glorious souls are leaving your earthly plain. You can look at this as this part of their soul plan has ended in their life process and now they are moving on. Many now can begin to mourn this as they release this.

What has transpired, if in fact you earnestly took part in what was transpiring in your months of April and May, you are now in a place as you move into your month of June to move into the fruition of the new you, the new life and quite possibly the fruition of new relationships that open your heart space. This is why We ask, are you ready to open your heart to receive love? Much will be coming into your life that will test you as to where you are where receiving love is concerned. It will test you to see where you are with this. Do you still hold love at arm's length? What surfaces within you when those come to love, honor and value you? What transpires? Your month of June is about moving into this and discovering why in many ways you have held love at arm's length. As you move into your month of June it is a month of new discoveries of self as you have opened the space by taking inventory, by releasing what you need to release and allowing the transition from your month of May into your month of June to take place so you can now be in a place of fruition of the new you, the new love of you the new love of others where it is at a highly developed soul aspect of love.

Your month of June is where you can continue to look at your attachments in relationships, attachments to “things” in the physical world and attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you. This is because there is an upheaval transpiring in the aspect of the lower dimensional third dimensional realm. There is an upheaval. You are moving into a place of truths and untruths. It is about once again to look at your relationship to the governmental systems, your corporate systems in your world and seeing how you are reacting or responding to it. Thus, revealing attachments to what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm.

As you move into your month of June many doors will begin to open on the other side of the doors you have closed. Doors will open but for many there may be nothing on the other side. Many may be in a place of trepidation of moving through the new door because they are not quite sure what is on the other side but also they are not quite sure of who they truly are now that they have released much of what no longer serves them. Quite possibly releasing relationships that no longer serve them. So they are in a place of feeling empty because what they have done is energetically removed themselves those old relationships, from what no longer serves them and now moving into this place of nothingness.

By releasing what no longer serves you, you have created space. You have created space in your life. You have created space quite possibly in your physical life. You have created space within you. In your month of April this was the reason We had asked you to take inventory to see what no longer serves you. And as you moved through your month of April to see it and when you moved into your month of May you began to release that which no longer serves you. By doing this you are releasing low, dense vibrational energy from your energetic field. As you are moving and beginning to do this many are now feeling their resonance and vibration raise.

In May We asked you the question, what are you used to? Are you used to sadness, dismay, drama, chasing after what is unavailable? It is time to get used to being fulfilled in your life with relationships, with yourself and what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you. Creating new habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that raise your resonance and vibration and remove you from the old.

The old will surface from time to time. It is up to you to make choices to now as you have raised your awareness and consciousness which is an outpouring of what has transpired in your months of April and May.

We bring you these exercises so you can now see more clearly what no longer serves you. See more clearly what serves you. See more clearly your habits, patterns, rituals and behaviors that keep you in the old. The basis for these teachings and the teachings of many is to raise your awareness and consciousness to you.
