A Message for April 2025

Moving Into the Individuated and Unique Self

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are moving into the grandness and greatness of self as you move into your month of April. What is transpiring in your world as you transition from your month of March into your month of April in your year of 2025, is more of the same in many ways. More of the same actions are transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of yourself. More of the same reactions as to what is transpiring as well. In many ways We are here to bring you a summary of the actions that you can take now in response to what is transpiring in the world outside of you. Continuing the process of moving within the depth and breadth of your heart space and the greatness of self and the individuality of self.

What We will be speaking about to you now is the individuality of self. How are you standing as an individual? An individual adult moving from the wounded child into the adult. We know We have said this to you many times but it is now about employing in the month of April what you have learned as you open up to the newness of self, the individuality of self. The individuality of self that is moving through your third dimensional realm, navigating what is transpiring in the low vibrational, dense atmosphere of the third dimensional realm, the shadow period. And how are you rising above that, raising your resonance and vibration into the individuality of self. It is about looking at the self and seeing the individualness of you. The uniqueness of you. Something that We have spoken to you many times before. The uniqueness of you rising from herd consciousness into individuality.

There is a difference between herd consciousness and creating a soul family. A soul family of individuals, like-minded individuals who honor and value and love themselves. See the uniqueness of themselves. Not the difference from another. The uniqueness of the self. When you look at yourself and the individuality of self, the uniqueness of self, you are no different from another. As you see another, you see yourself. Each and every one of you have risen to a uniqueness of self where you can recognize that in full consciousness of the being of you.

In many ways, many say we are growing tired of hearing about loving, honoring and valuing the self. We are growing tired of hearing how we can love, honor and value ourselves more often. We want answers. We want solutions. The answers and solutions are in the individuality of self. In the uniqueness of self. In the all-inclusiveness of self. And moving on the pathway and the journey within to raise your resonance and vibration by bringing to the surface your wounding and your trauma. So you can free yourself from that and move into the adulthood of you where you can look at what is transpiring out in the world and ask yourself the question, what resonates and what doesn't resonate for me as you raise your resonance and vibration.

It is not about you being different from another. It is not about you knowing more than another, knowing less than another. Raising another on the high pedestal of the grand, exalted, mystic leader that will lead you to the promised land. No dear ones, it is you. For there is no promised land. The promised land is in the here and now. The promised land is you in the uniqueness and individuality of self, rising above the low, dense vibration of the third dimensional realm. As you have chosen to incarnate into this and heal the wounding, you can now look at that and create the soul family of like-minded individual, unique adults. Raising their resonance and vibration through and employing the Christ Consciousness of peace, community, harmony, equality and love.

Your month of April is about seeing the individualness of the self. And being more conscious and aware when you look at what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you as more of the same continues. Where are you shifting, changing and growing so you can rise above the fray? Meaning, raise your level of resonance and vibration above the low, dense vibrational aspects of the third dimensional realm. Not condemning it. Not opposing it. But seeing it for what it is. As it will in your human form trigger feelings about it. Trigger trauma, trigger wounding, challenging you to see your uniqueness as the adult.

It is about creating a new soul family at a higher level of resonance and vibration and moving out of herd consciousness. Being in your own consciousness of what resonates and vibrates for you through loving, honoring and valuing you. As We said to you when We came to you in your month of March, it is about living your life all-inclusive. Inclusion, not exclusion. Inclusion but discerning what relationships raise your resonance and vibration and champion your highest good as you champion another's highest good.

In your month of April We ask you to look at your individuality. How are you walking on the pathway of the Christ consciousness? Walking on your pathway through your human incarnation in this life, individuated from the wounded child. As an individuated adult looking at the third dimensional realm and simply ask the question, what resonates for me and what doesn't? Without opposing what doesn't resonate. That may be a reaction for you to oppose what is transpiring. This is why We implore you to have your feelings about what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you in the macrocosm and the microcosm. In the relationships you are having with others in the microcosm of your own individuated life on the third dimensional plain.

It is now about moving into the individualness of self. Moving into the individualness of self without relying on what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm to give you that hit that you are alive. Looking outside of yourself for gratification. Looking outside of yourself for the identity of self. Which many do. Which you have done. Are you still looking outside of yourself to others for your identity? Is herd consciousness your identity? Who are you? This is why We asked the question in your month of March, who are you being? Are you being the individuated soul at a high vibrational energy, at a high vibrational resonance so that you now can look at what is transpiring in the world, individuate yourself from it, walk your path, knowing who you are? Knowing who you are being? Loving, honoring and valuing you where you are not looking outside of yourself for gratification or satisfaction or your identity.

As you move into your month of April awakening in many ways to the new self and continue to awaken the new self, We ask you to look at your individuality. Looking at your uniqueness of self. Looking to see if you are saying, I am different from them. You are not. If you are fully living in the abstract aspects of the Christ Consciousness of peace, love community, harmony and equality you will see yourself in others. You will see in another wounded individual your wounds mirrored back to you quite possibly. It is not about saying I am different. Before saying that, it is important to look at isolation and separation. Well, I am different from them so I am going to come over here with this group, move away and isolate and separate myself from them. I am going to isolate and separate myself from those I am different than. I am going to look at these wonderful and most glorious souls who I think I am different than and then move over here with these wonderful and most glorious souls and isolate and separate myself with those who I think I am different than. That is your wounding.

It is about seeing the uniqueness and the individualness of self. Loving, honoring and valuing yourself to make a choice with whom you will be in relationship with. Look at those outside of you who no longer resonate for you because your journey on this pathway in this lifetime in the human form is about moving through the wounding and the trauma to raise your resonance and vibration. For when you look outside of yourself at other wonderful most glorious souls and feel their resonance and vibration whatever that may be, that may not resonate and vibrate with where you are it doesn't mean you are different from them. You are simply resonating at a different vibration and different level of where you are now in this incarnation in the human form. It is not about looking outside of you and saying, I am different from them. I'm different. You are not different, you are unique. It is about raising your consciousness and your awareness to self. Thus, your individualness. Then moving into relationships quite possibly with those on that level of resonance and vibration. That level of understanding, awareness and consciousness that is based in the Christ Consciousness of peace, community, harmony and equality and love and all-inclusiveness.

It is not about dividing and drawing a line in the sand and saying, this is my line of demarcation and you are not allowed to cross it. I am going to move over here and separate and isolate myself from you. That is what a wounded teenager does. As We explain that to you, where is the peace, community, harmony, equality and all-inclusiveness in that?

It is about seeing you and seeing others through the eyes of the soul. Radiating the radiant white light to shine light on the shadow but not condemn those in the shadow.
