The Masculine Energy Rising

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are opening up to the grandness and greatness of the self as you are moving into your month of June exiting your month of May. A month where you have blossomed in many ways into the new you or getting a glimpse of the new you. Feeling a powerfulness in your heart space of who you truly are and exerting that energy in many ways out into the world through expression. Through loving expression.

As you move into your month of June, as We told you in your month of May, beginning in your month of June there will be an ushering in of a new age of consciousness. The beginning of that begins with the masculine energy. As you have moved within conjoining with the feminine energy within you through the receptive energy, the nurturing energy and opening up your heart space comforting the wounded child and moving through that, you are now moving into your month of June and it is about moving into the depth and breadth of the masculine energy within you. So you now can move out into the world and assert yourself as the new you. Assert yourself through self-expression through the masculine energy. And doing this combining with the feminine energy within you as well.

You are now moving into a homogenization of your energies. Moving and combining the feminine and masculine energies.

In many ways your month of June begins the process of moving into the masculine energy within. Meaning asserting energy out into the world. Your place in the world outside of you as the new you.

As you have moved within through the journey within and opened up your heart space, moved through your trauma, wounding, conditioning and programing, and now emerging, as your month of May was a blossoming or an emergence of the full you. Honoring and valuing you as the adult now. Your month of June is about moving within and homogenizing or harmonizing the energies within you beginning with the masculine energy.

What is most important as you navigate the third dimensional realm and moving into the second half of your year of 2025, it is now time to assert yourself out into the world through the Chris Consciousness. Asserting yourself with love. In many ways telling those outside of you who you truly are. As you have shifted and change the relationship you are having with yourself.

It is now about focusing on the masculine energy inside of you. The delicate masculine energy that is within you. Each and everyone of you has this as well as aspects of the feminine energy. It is now about joining energies and focusing in your month of June on the masculine energy. See how that is related to what is transpiring in the world outside of you. In many ways what is being mirrored back to you and manufactured outside of you is the masculine energy of the toxic variety. The old machismo as it were. Seeing how this is being played out in the world and seeing within you how you look at that now and seeing that it is old. The old masculine toxic energy where it is about projecting out into the world. Forcefully projecting yourself onto what is transpiring in the world outside of you. Forcefully projecting yourself in relationships. Moving through the aspects of needing to be right. Moving through the aspects of fighting to be right. The old aspects in many ways of toxic masculinity.

Now it is about how you are moving out into the world and reclaiming your place in the world through the healthy masculine energy by simply expressing yourself. Stating your needs, setting your boundaries in relationships with others. This is who I am. I love, honor and value who I am through the Christ Consciousness of peace, community, harmony, equality, love and all-inclusiveness within me. And I am now connecting with the assertive masculine energy inside of me. Not the aggressive masculine energy that you once had which is the wounded energy that you are seeing mirrored back to you in the world outside of you.

It is about moving into the assertive aspects of the masculine energy out into the world through the Christ Consciousness of love, peace, community, harmony and equality and reclaiming in many ways your place in the world as a healthy, masculine energetic person. Combining with the feminine energy.

What you are focusing on, if you so choose in your month of June is the reclaiming of the masculine energy, the healthy masculine energy within you which is the assertive energy inside of you so you can now move out into the world shining the effervescent white light within the soul space onto the world. Onto the shadow aspects of the world and moving in to find what is mine to do and what is mine to express out into the world that is in the depth and breadth of my soul space through the Christ Consciousness of love, peace, community, harmony and equality. This is the beginning of the new age of consciousness. It begins with reclaiming that masculine energy inside of yourself, the healthy masculine energy. The assertive masculine energy and the assertive self-expression in what you are needing to express to the world based upon what is transpiring in the world.

Are you fighting to be right? Are you pushing your energy onto others outside of you in the realm of fighting to be right?

Where are you being triggered by what is transpiring in the world outside of you that triggers the old aspects of the masculine energy where what rises in there is the fight and the need to be right. To argue your point in many ways with the fight to be right.

In many ways you are creating a parallel consciousness. But as your month of June begins, it begins the age of new consciousness that will flow throughout the second half of your year of 2025. It is aided by the energy forces in your third dimensional realm that came in in your last year of 2024 in your month of October that is working within the parameters of aspects of the third dimensional realm. The energies are now rising. In many ways you are feeling energies rising within in others. Many are finding the need to express themselves in some way, shape or form. They may not know what is transpiring. That is the rise of the masculine energy. An assertive energy.

In many ways it is a see saw affect. Outward to the inner, inner to the outward. Many are now finding within themselves a healthy balance of masculine and feminine energy. And finding a need to express themselves. Asking the question, what is mine to do out in the third dimensional realm? What is mine to say? Because I am rising to a new level of loving, honoring and valuing myself. Seeing myself now as the adult and realizing that I have something to express in the world.

It is why We brought you through understanding the Christ Consciousness of peace, community, harmony, equality, love and all-inclusiveness and coming from that place. Now combining the nurturing aspects of the feminine energy and moving your focus in your month of June onto the masculine energy. The healthy masculine energy.

Many are finding this energy rising into and moving through the first, second and third chakras into their heart chakra and into their throat chakra. Many are feeling that energy lodging in their throat chakra. The energy of self-expression. They are not sure how to express themselves. It is about keeping in mind the Christ Consciousness of love, peace, community, harmony, equality and all-inclusiveness. In many ways as you move through your month of June many are going to begin to learn all over again how to express themselves through the assertive masculine energy through love, peace, community, harmony, equality and all-inclusiveness.

So as you move into your month of June and through your month of June many will be finding the energy rising within them. Spiraling upward into their throat chakra. Many are wondering what that is. It is the rise in many ways of the masculine energy combined with the kundalini energy that is moving and triggering a need for self-expression. A need to move out into the world and reclaiming oneself in relationships. Reclaiming oneself out in the world but in a new way, as the new you. Blossoming into the new you. The new individuated, unique adult that is moving out into the world stating their needs, setting their boundaries, expressing themselves with love.

This is what is transpiring and this is how the new age of consciousness begins.

It is most important to understand the only way this new age of consciousness can begin is by each individuated adult expressing themselves out into the world through the Christ Consciousness. Or expressing themselves with love without attacking outside of themselves, without projecting outside of themselves, without pushing their energy outside of themselves utilizing the fight to be right. Thus, creating separation and isolation. Pushing away others through the old aggressive masculine energy that is based in the fight to be right. Yet, in many ways is based in survival. Pushing your energy at others. Finding ways that you are pushing your energy out into the world which is the old aggressive masculine energy.

Now, it is about allowing that energy to come up through the lovingness of the nurturing aspects of the feminine energy, opening up with the Christ Consciousness you can now move out into the world asserting yourself. Asserting the teachings of the Christ Consciousness out into the world. Asserting the teachings that We have been bringing you as well as the teachings others have been bringing you with love, peace, community, harmony, equality and all-inclusiveness.

As you move into the month of June it begins the new age of consciousness. The new age of consciousness begins with you moving out into the world fully expressing the depth and breadth of who you are.
