Claiming Your Independence Within

From the Archangelic Realm of Michael this is Michael and We come to you as you are now moving into your month of July. And as you look at your month of July, you can look at what is transpiring in your third dimensional realm outside of you and at your traditional beingness in the third dimensional realm on your earthly plain where you reside and looking at the traditional aspects of your month of July, what you call your independence. Looking at yourself in the cacophony of the third dimensional realm, the mythical aspects of it, the menagerie of the mythical aspects of it outside of you in the third dimensional realm, in many ways in your month of July you are moving into an independence within yourself.

In many ways what your month of July signifies is a midway point as you move into the depth and breadth of your heart space claiming all the aspects of yourself. Moving through the wounding and all the aspects of yourself that led you to where you can speak your truth and be who you are. Your month of July begins a period of time of claiming your independence. Your independence of attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you. The independence of you as an autonomous, loving, authentic, transparent adult without any attachments to the third dimensional realm. It is now about looking at those attachments once again as you are moving into an independence of the self. Moving into a reality of the self. Moving into the truthfulness of the self as you look at what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you. At the illusions of what is transpiring in the world outside of you. The question We have for you is, what illusions are you living in? What illusions are you still holding onto?

Are you moving into the true aspects of the beingness of the Christ Consciousness of peace, love, community, harmony and equality? Or do you still look outside of you blaming, shaming and projecting outside of you of what they are doing, what this person is doing? Looking at all of this and the attachments to all of this.

Where is your independence? Where is your autonomy as the wonderful and most glorious soul who has moved on a personal path within the depth and breadth of your heart space? What are you holding onto outside of yourself? What attachments are you holding onto outside of you in the illusion of the third dimensional realm? Are you moving into the full autonomy of who you are? The individuated adult. Moving into the depth and breadth of the heart space of you independently.

As you move into your month of July as you look outside at the illusions of the third dimensional realm where independence is personified, is the illusion, where are you now independent within the depth and breadth of yourself energetically? Where are you independent energetically from what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you?

As We have said to you many times before, what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you is affecting you. It is triggering aspects within the depth and breadth of your heart space as you are inhabiting in the third dimensional realm. If in fact you have followed a pathway within you, moving within, releasing layers of wounding, looking at your attachments to the third dimensional realm outside of you, looking at the obligations in life to others, where are you now moving to a place of independence within you? Which is the theme of your month of July.

We ask you to look at where you are independent within you as the adult. Where are you now differentiating between the adult and the wounded child? Where are you now opening your heart space to you? Claiming your needs. Claiming what you want. Where are you claiming you? What are you holding onto in the third dimensional realm outside of you in many ways fighting to be right, fighting for survival? For that is what you see in your third dimensional realm. That is what is being perpetrated in your third dimensional realm as you move through the shadow period of the third dimensional realm. Where are you independent from that as you observe that is transpiring? Ask yourself the question that We have asked you many times before, what resonates for me and what doesn't resonate for me? What are you fighting to be right? What are you fighting for your independence? Looking outside of you fighting for your independence. As opposed to moving within, nurturing the wounded child that will set you free and independent from what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm as you chart the course and navigate through a new life. A new life of being who you are. A new life with the Christ Consciousness intact. Or are you continuing to blame and shame others for your plight in life? Thus, dependent upon what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm outside of you for validation.

As you move through your month of July the theme for the month and what you are on course for is your independence. How are you navigating what is transpiring in your life? For many, specific relationships in your life that you are having right now is bringing up the old, triggering the old, activating the old inside of you. The old behaviors, the old habits, patterns and rituals. And many are navigating through that as you move into your month of July to claim your independence within you.

Many are looking outside of themselves and being triggered by what is transpiring in the third dimensional realm in the macrocosm and in the microcosm of your own life in the relationships you are having. What is being triggered and activated is essential. Now it is up to you to look at that. Choose to heal that. Choose to nurture what is transpiring outside of you and differentiate from the wonderful and most glorious souls who are triggering within you. Saying, thank you for being that catalyst, that mirror, that is triggering what is coming up inside of me to look at, to release.

Your month of July is a month of releasing the old. A new depth of releasing the old. What is the old that needs to be released inside of you? What is surfacing inside of you that now can look at that held you in separation and isolation from others? Because what frightened you are the feelings that surfaced within you and you would run away from that in order to repress and suppress those feelings. They layers as you move within are getting deeper if in fact you are choosing this pathway. You are moving deeper into the depth and breadth of you to free yourself and move into an independence within you.

As We come to you at this wonderful and most glorious time keep in mind, where are you attaching yourself to what is transpiring in the third dimensional? What are those attachments? We have asked you this question many times before but it is most important to understand that there are attachments. Self-worth, self-value. Am I attaching myself outside of me for self-worth and self-value you? For validation of who I am?

Where can you now declare your independence by saying I know who I am, I honor and value and love who I am. I am now moving into the independent, autonomous, transparent, authentic adult who now can take full responsibility for me. As you move into independence, you move into a greater depth of taking responsibility for you. As you begin to move in and reclaim the depth and breadth of who you are, stating your needs, setting your boundaries, expressing yourself truthfully, authentically and transparently. You are reclaiming your independence and you move into a greater depth of taking responsibility for you. Then in turn, look outside of you with those who you are in relationship with and asking where are you taking responsibility for you? Looking outside of yourself in the third dimensional realm and asking the question, where are you and are you taking responsibility for you?

As you move into this month of July opening your heart space to reclaim your independence you thus move into a greater depth of taking responsibility for you.
